

DROP TRACTOR AND TOOTHBRUSH AT SOUTH POLE

By DON GUY

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—An eight-ton tractor and a toothbrush floated gently down to the South Pole Wednesday.

They were dropped to 19 Americans building a U.S. scientific outpost for use in the International Geophysical Year program.

The tractor, dropped on three 100-foot parachutes from 2,000 feet, will be used to speed construction.

The toothbrush, wrapped in a towel and tied to a bundle of oil drums, will be used by Sgt. Richard J. Patton, 31-year-old St. Louisian who made history's first parachute jump to the Pole Sunday. He had radioed that he forgot to pack a toothbrush.

The tractor made a perfect landing and was observed in operation shortly after touching down.

Lt. Richard A. Bowers of Quonset, R.I., and Harrisburg, Pa., leader of the Seabee ground party, messaged that all was well. He said his group was spending its first night at the pole in a heated building. The workers set up a portable wood frame building covered with insulated fabric. It is heated by an oil stove. The task force had been using tiny survival tents.

The Air Force Globemaster which made the tractor drop plowed into a snowbank when landing and blocked the 6,000-foot ice strip at this base for a time. None of the 17 men aboard the plane, the State of Tennessee, was hurt. The plane was piloted by Col. H. A. Crosswell of Atlanta and Miami. The plane's nose wheel collapsed when it set down, causing it to skid into the snowbank.

Lt. Jack Tuck of Auburn, Mass., second in command, volunteered to stay over there as head of eight Navy men for the winter. It will be the second antarctic winter for the 24-year-old Dartmouth graduate. He spent last winter here at McMurdo.

SOROPTIMISTS ARE LAUDED FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

The Soroptimist Club of Gettysburg was praised Tuesday evening for its "tremendous job in service to the community" by Judge W. C. Sheely at the 18th birthday anniversary dinner held by the club at the American Legion home, Baltimore St.

Principal speaker at the dinner, Judge Sheely added his praise for other service clubs of the community and said he "hopes for the continuance of the ideals of service to the community taught by the service clubs generally."

Holding that "many persons become so accustomed to privileges that they forget responsibilities," the jurist cited, as an example of the service that can be provided by different organizations, the work of the Adams County Bar Association in sponsoring the visits by ninth graders from all schools in the county to court sessions during the year. The students, a grade at a time, accompanied by a member of the association, visit all offices in the courthouse where the duties of each office are explained by the officials.

Promotes Understanding
The group then attends a part of a trial in the court room and during a recess, hears an address by Judge Sheely on duties and responsibilities of citizens and work of the court.

Judge Sheely said he "knows that each student leaves the courthouse with a better understanding of his future responsibilities as a citizen. The jurors, because of the presence of the future citizens of the community, receive a deep realization of their responsibilities."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George W. Boehner, club president, who served as toastmaster at the dinner at which 45 members and guests were present.

Mrs. John Schwartz, Lemoyne, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Milton R. Tipton, Gettysburg. Her selections were "Life Is A Beautiful Thing," "If I Loved You" and "Whistling a Happy Tune." Mrs. S. A. Burton who led group singing, was accompanied by Mrs. George F. Eberhart at the piano.

Cut Birthday Cake
A large blue and gold birthday cake, topped with lighted candles, a donation of Mrs. William A. Hennig, a charter member, was cut and served with the dessert after the assembly sang "Happy Birthday." Fall flowers decorated the guest table.

Representatives of other service clubs in the community were introduced and included S. A. Burton, Kiwanis Club; Glenn Guise, Exchange Club; George F. Eberhart, Lions Club; and Mrs. Bernard Murray Business and Professional Women's Club. Other guests were Mrs. E. Mae Beales, a former member; Walter A. Kenney, Donald E. Myers and Harry Scott.

Mrs. Ethyl Shultz, Mrs. Elizabeth Childs, Mrs. Catherine Young and Mrs. Ruth Bankert, members of the Soroptimist Club of Hanover, were guests. Present from the Westminster Club were Mrs. John P. Moore, past president of that club, and Mr. Moore, and Mrs. Anna Wagner, the club's vice president. Telegrams of regret were read from the York and Chambersburg Clubs who were unable to be represented at the celebration.

Remove 25 Bodies From Plane Crash In Caracas Mountains

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The bodies of 25 persons killed in the crash of a New York-to-Caracas airliner were brought down by cable car last night from the cloud-shrouded mountains at the city's edge.

There were no survivors. The dead included 10 Americans, among them 26-year-old Negro outfielder Charles Peete of Omaha, Neb., the American Ass'n's 1956 batting champion, his wife and three children.

The Venezuelan airliner, swinging in from the Caribbean through a rainstorm to land at Maiquetia, Caracas' seaside airport, plunged into a wooded mountain of the Boca Chica range.

Debris Over Wide Area
Wreckage and the bodies of the 18 passengers and 7 crewmen were scattered over the area of a city block. The point of impact was about 150 feet from the crest.

It was the second crash in just over five months for the government-owned Linea Aeropostal Venezolana. One of the line's planes caught fire after a New York take-off last June 20 and plunged 74

FARM SUPPLY DEALERS GET '57 PREVIEW

Seven representatives of Adams County farm supply organizations and Adams County Agent Frank S. Zettie attended an extension agronomy meeting Tuesday at Carlisle.

Changes in field crop programs on the farms of the central Pennsylvania counties in 1957 were forecast by four Pennsylvania State University agronomists, E. C. Pifer, George H. Jergensen, Albert E. Cooper and W. Wayne Hinsh.

Those attending were seed and fertilizer dealers and other farm suppliers. The meeting was held to acquaint them with extension field crop recommendations to guide them in stocking up on the particular supplies that are likely to be in demand.

Recommend Changes
The recommendations for 1957, County Agent Zettie explained, were drawn up by the Agricultural Extension Service of the state after consultation with fertilizer and lime manufacturers seedmen and research and other staff personnel at the university.

One change recommended for 1957, based on soil analysis by the University staff, calls for an increase from 300 to 400 pounds of 0-20-20 fertilizer for deep drilling in advance of seedings to help offset prevailing phosphorus and potash deficiencies.

Dual wheat, a Hessian fly resistant variety, also was proposed. It can be sowed earlier in the fall, planted in fall and spring, and still is said to yield comparable to Thorne and other standard kinds.

A new trend in forage crops, Zettie said, puts emphasis on DuPuits and Narragansett alfalfa, where will be no problem, or on ranger or vernal alfalfa which is disease resistant.

Attending from Adams County were Donald Swisher, Donald White and J. R. Evans of Central Chemical Co., Gettysburg; Clyde Wagner, Hanover, and John Epler, Gettysburg, Eastern States Cooperative, and Harry Seifert, Adams Agstone.

GET EARLY CALL

Gettysburg firemen were called at 3:30 o'clock this morning when a pile of trash was discovered ablaze near Bren-Da's Luncheonette, Fairfield Rd. The blaze was quickly extinguished and there was no damage.

Dr. Earl Bowen, professor of biology at Gettysburg College, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the monthly dinner meeting of the Torch club at Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church here.

Speaking on "Prehistoric Man," Dr. Bowen presented a set of notes listing the various classifications of prehistoric ages and used slides and plaster casts of early skulls to illustrate his talk on the presumed appearance and location of early humans based on the findings of parts of skeletons of humans in earth strata indicating that the individuals existed in certain periods of the earth's history.

Dr. Herbert Schmidt, librarian at the local Lutheran Seminary and president of the club, presided with 30 present.

RESERVE UNIT ADDS THREE MEN

Three new members were inducted into Company A, 313th Infantry Regiment, the local Army Reserve unit, at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Legion building. Membership in the company now totals 72. The goal is 100.

The new members are: Ralph D. Carey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carey, Aspers R. 1, a student at Biglerville High School; James D. Bleivins, 18, son of Mrs. Vivian A. Bleivins, Taneytown, an employee of the Gettysburg Shoe Factory, and Robert J. Bleivins, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Bleivins, 22 Newark St., Littlestown.

All three new members enlisted under the new six-month Army, eight-year Reserve program. Pvt. James and Robert Bleivins will leave for their six months of active duty in the Army on April 1, while Pvt. Carey's active duty will be deferred until he graduates from high school.

Lt. Paul E. Aumen, commanding officer, has invited all interested persons, either those planning to enter the service, or those separated from active duty, to visit the Reserve Center during its meetings on Tuesday evenings in order to learn "the many advantages the Reserve has to offer."

Training this past Tuesday night included instruction in "Rough Bridges," given by Sp3 Kochenderfer and a class on "Squad Tactical Training," presented by Lt. Aumen.

LOCAL CATERERS GET STATE JOB

A. L. Mathias Co., Baltimore catering firm, and caterers at Gettysburg College, was given a contract Tuesday to operate the state cafeteria in the main Capital Building, Harrisburg, effective Saturday.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, retiring Democratic speaker of the House, served notice immediately he would take the issue to the 1957 legislature.

The Mathias contract, signed by Gov. Leader and John S. Rice, secretary of property and supplies, provides for five per cent of receipts as profits and another five per cent for administrative expenses. The Department of Property and Supplies will retain control of prices, menus and personnel.

The cafeteria has been operated since 1943 on a self-sustaining basis.

Will Fight Contract
"We will oppose that contract with every available legislation that is expedient," Andrews said, indicating a possibility of sufficient votes to re-pass a bill should Gov. Leader veto it.

The governor vetoed a bill passed by the 1955-56 session for continued state operation of the cafeteria. The bill passed with only one negative vote.

"The issue may seem a minor one," Andrews said, "but the principal involved is basic. The General Assembly expressed a desire and opinion concerning the cafeteria by practically unanimous vote."

"As long as that cafeteria does not require a state subsidy in order to continue operations, members of the General Assembly do not believe it is any part of the proper business of either a state department or the government itself to counteract the legislative will."

Sorority To Hold Banquet Thursday

The annual Thanksgiving banquet of the Epsilon Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will be held Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Lamp Post Corner. It was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the sorority at 8 o'clock in the sorority room, Chambersburg St.

About twenty members attended the meeting conducted by Teresa Jacobs. Nancy Hartman and Don Hammers presented the cultural program.

December meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays because of the holiday season.

Missionary From Alaska To Speak

Miss Rose Graziana, of Kodiak, Alaska, will speak at the school of missions in the Gettysburg Baptist Church Thursday at 7:30 p.m. She will show slides of her work with orphaned children in an Alaskan mission outpost which is supported by the American Baptist Home Mission Society. Among her other duties, Miss Graziana has served as housemother to nearly a score of children.

This is the fourth in a series of Thursday night meetings to which the public is invited, the pastor, Rev. H. N. Brownlee, said.

PLAN BENEFIT PARTY

The Fairfield Lions Club will hold a card party as a benefit for the club's sight conservation program Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Fairfield High School, it was announced today.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

The following property transfers have been recorded in the office of the register and recorder:

The Gettysburg National Bank under the will of Dr. Henry Stewart, late of Gettysburg, sold to Ralph W. and Miriam C. Guise, R. 5, for $8,845 two properties in Gettysburg.

LOCAL YOUTH SERIOUSLY ILL; BLOOD NEEDED

An appeal to blood donors was made today by Richard S. Codori, North Stratton St., for donations of blood, any type, to replenish the supply in the blood bank of the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia. Nineteen pints of blood from the hospital supply had been used in transfusions for Richard C. Codori, 23-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Codori, following an operation last week. He is a graduate of Penn State University in industrial engineering and is employed by Bethlehem Steel.

Young Codori had been sent to Philadelphia by his physician for a minor operation for observation purposes after he had been suffering from recent headaches. A critical situation developed during the operation. He was given deep-freeze treatment and a number of blood transfusions before he emerged from a critical stage. At one time it was feared for his life. Additional transfusions will be required. His condition today is serious.

Philadelphia hospital authorities, asked Mr. Codori if he could secure blood donations from the Gettysburg area to replenish the supply that was used on his son. They said they will accept any type because there is always a demand for blood of all types in Philadelphia.

Those willing to donate blood are asked to call the local Red Cross office, Gettysburg 132, and arrangements will be made, at their convenience, to make their donations either in York or Harrisburg. Transportation will be furnished.

Tension Between Syria And Iraq Reaches Fever Pitch; Open Break Expected Soon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The drumbeat tension between Syria and Iraq mounted today. The feeling grew that some sort of break — either in Damascus or Baghdad — might come within days.

Informed circles saw the likelihood of an open coup by the army in Syria in recent weeks. The army faction, pro-Soviet although non-Communist, is led by Col. Abdul Hamid Saraj.

The Syrian-Iraqi crisis built up in a continuing exchange of bitter charges. Jordan's decision to cut its ties with Britain and consider closer relations with Russia underlined the possibility of deeper Soviet penetration into the fermenting Middle East.

Charge Subversive Campaign

Iraq accuses Syria of conducting a subversive campaign against the government of Iraqi Premier U. Said, an opponent of Soviet moves to extend its Middle East influence. Syria charges Iraq with seeking to destroy the governments of both Syria and Jordan.

Pact Is Target

The Baghdad Pact, prime target of Syria, Egypt and Russia, links Iraq, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Britain in an alliance designed to meet the threat of Communist aggression.

The Soviet Union, which is reported to be pouring arms into Syria, kept up its role of protector of Arab nations antagonistic toward the West with a charge that the United States is trying to provoke Turkey and Iraq into an attack.

JOHN Y. CROW NAMED HEAD OF TRAVEL GROUP

John Y. Crow, manager of the local Delval Ice Cream Co., was elected president of the Gettysburg Travel Council at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Shelter House. He had served as secretary of the Council and succeeds Donald V. Manning, of the Blue Ridge Oil Co.

A new organizational set-up with three vice presidents was adopted. Named as the vice presidents were: Walter B. Lane, John Madson and Carl Schutt.

Retiring President Manning explained that each of the vice presidents will be in charge of three of the standing committees of the organization in a move to lessen the duties of the president of the council. They will be responsible to the president for the operation of their committee.

Re-elect 2 Officers

Mrs. Mary Nelson was elected secretary. Re-elected were treasurer, Charles Bender, and financial secretary, Mrs. Helen Snyder.

Elected directors, in addition to the officers, were: William Ayres, Carl A. Baum, Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Wayne Cluck, Allen Larson, O. G. MacPherson, G. Henry Roth, Lloyd Shetter, LeRoy E. Smith, Henry M. Scharf, Lloyd Hartman, Hugh Bringham, Mrs. Amos Beinhart, Parker H. Cunningham and Samuel Kessel.

A special meeting will be held Thursday evening, December 6, at which three committees, budget, dues and program, will report. James Hafer said the three committees needed an additional week to complete their report.

President Manning reported the organization spent $3,618.69 during the year and ended with a balance of $197.30.

Henry M. Scharf urged the Travel Council to promote local attendance at the annual November 19 program held here. Pointing out that "Dedication Day, November 19, is Gettysburg's truly national holiday," he said: "The Congress of the United States has set aside the day for observance of Lincoln's dedication of the Gettysburg National Cemetery. Each year people have come from throughout Pennsylvania and even beyond its borders to put on a program at the cemetery here, the only one of its kind in the world. In fact this is the only place it can be held."

Urges Local Interest

"In cities throughout the United States, Lincoln groups meet to hold their own observance of Dedication Day. But locally, only a handful of people pay any attention to the town's own holiday. As a community (Continued On Page 7)

SOROPTIMISTS ARE LAUDED FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

The Soroptimist Club of Gettysburg was praised Tuesday evening for its "tremendous job in service to the community" by Judge W. C. Sheely at the 18th birthday anniversary dinner held by the club at the American Legion home, Baltimore St.

Principal speaker at the dinner, Judge Sheely added his praise for other service clubs of the community and said he "hopes for the continuance of the ideals of service to the community taught by the service clubs generally."

Holding that "many persons become so accustomed to privileges that they forget responsibilities," the jurist cited, as an example of the service that can be provided by different organizations, the work of the Adams County Bar Association in sponsoring the visits by ninth graders from all schools in the county at court sessions during the year. The students, a grade at a time, accompanied by a member of the association, visit all offices in the courthouse where the duties of each office are explained by the officials.

The group then attends a part of a trial in the court room and during a recess, hears an address by Judge Sheely on duties and responsibilities of citizens and work of the court.

Judge Sheely said he "knows that each student leaves the courthouse with a better understanding of his future responsibilities as a citizen. The jurors, because of the presence of the future citizens of the community, receive a deep realization of their responsibilities."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George W. Bochner, club president, who served as toastmaster at the dinner at which 45 members and guests were present.

Mrs. John Schwartz, Lemoyne, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Milton R. Tipton, Gettysburg. Her selections were "Life Is A Beautiful Thing," "If I Loved You," "Whistling A Happy Tune." Mrs. S. A. Burton who led group singing, was accompanied by Mrs. George P. Eberhart at the piano.

A large blue and gold birthday cake, topped with lighted candles, a donation of Mrs. William A. Hennings, a charter member, was cut and served with the dessert after the assembly sang "Happy Birthday." Fall flowers decorated the guest table.

Representatives of other service clubs in the community were introduced and included S. A. Burton, Kiwanis Club; Glenn Gish, Exchange Club; George P. Eberhart, Lions Club; and Mrs. Bernard Murray Business and Professional Women's Club. Other guests were Mrs. E. Mas Beales, a former member; Walter A. Keeney, Donald E. Myers and Harry Scott.

Mrs. Ethel Schultz, Mrs. Elizabeth Childs, Mrs. Catherine Young and Mrs. Ruth Barker, members of the Soroptimist Club of Hanover, were guests. Present from the Westminster Club were Mrs. John P. Moore, past president of that club, and Mr. Moore, and Mrs. Anna Wagner, the club's vice president. Telegrams of regret were read from the York and Chambersburg Clubs who were unable to be represented at the celebration.

FARM SUPPLY DEALERS GET '57 PREVIEW

Seven representatives of Adams County farm supply organizations and Adams County Agent Frank S. Zettle attended an extension agronomy meeting Tuesday at Carlisle.

Changes in field crop programs on the farms of the central Pennsylvania counties in 1957 were forecast by four Pennsylvania State University agronomists, E. C. Pifer, George H. Fergggen, Albert E. Cooper and W. Wayne Hinsh.

Those attending were seed and fertilizer dealers and other farm suppliers. The meeting was held to acquaint them with extension field crop recommendations to guide them in stocking up on the particular supplies that are likely to be in demand.

The recommendations for 1957, County Agent Zettle explained, were drawn up by the Agricultural Extension Service of the state after consultation with fertilizer and lime manufacturers seedmen and research and other staff personnel at the university.

One change recommended for 1957, based on soil analysis by the University staff, calls for an increase from 300 to 400 pounds of 0-20-20 fertilizer for deep drilling in advance of seedings to help offset prevailing phosphorus and potash deficiencies.

Dual wheat, a Hessian fly resistant variety, also was proposed. It can be sown earlier in the fall, planted in fall and spring, and still is said to yield comparable to Thorpe and other standard kinds.

A new trend in forage crops, Zettle said, puts emphasis on DuPuits and Narragansett alfalfa, where wild is no problem, or on alfalfa or vernal alfalfa which is disease resistant.

Dr. Earl Bowen Is Exchange Speaker

Dr. Earl Bowen, professor of biology at Gettysburg College, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the monthly dinner meeting of the Torch club at Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church here.

Speaking on "Prehistoric Man," Dr. Bowen presented a set of notes listing the various classifications of prehistoric ages and used slides and plaster casts of early skulls to illustrate his talk on the presumed appearance and location of early humans based on the findings of parts of skeletons of humans in earth strata indicating that the individuals existed in certain periods of the earth's history.

Dr. Herbert Schmidt, librarian at the local Lutheran Seminary and president of the club, presided with 30 present.

RESERVE UNIT ADDS THREE MEN

Three new members were inducted into Company A, 313th Infantry Regiment, the local Army Reserve unit, at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Legion building. Membership in the company now totals 72. The goal is 100.

The new members are: Ralph D. Carey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carey, Aspers R. 1, a student at Biglerville High School; James D. Blevins, 18, son of Mrs. Vivian A. Blevins, Taneytown, an employee of the Gettysburg Shoe Factory, and Robert J. Blevins, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Blevins, 22 Newark St., Littlestown.

All three new members enlisted under the new six-month Army, eight-year Reserve program. Pts. James and Robert Blevins will leave for their six months of active duty in the Army on April 1, while Pvt. Carey's active duty will be deferred until he graduates from high school.

LOCAL CATERERS GET STATE JOB

A. L. Mathias Co., Baltimore catering firm, and caterers at Gettysburg College, was given a contract Tuesday to operate the state cafeteria in the main Capital Building, Harrisburg, effective Saturday.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, retiring Democratic speaker of the House, served notice immediately he would take the issue to the 1957 legislature.

The Mathias contract, signed by Gov. Leader and John S. Rice, secretary of property and supplies, provides for five per cent of receipts as profits and another five per cent for administrative expenses. The Department of Property and Supplies will retain control of prices, menus and personnel.

The cafeteria has been operated since 1943 on a self-sustaining basis. Will Fight Contract.

"We will oppose that contract with every available legislation that is expedient," Andrews said, indicating a possibility of sufficient votes to re-pass a bill should Gov. Leader veto it.

The governor vetoed a bill passed by the 1955-56 session for continued state operation of the cafeteria. The bill passed with only one negative vote.

"The issue may seem a minor one," Andrews said, "but the principal involved is basic. The General Assembly expressed a desire and opinion concerning the cafeteria by practically unanimous vote."

LOCAL YOUTH SERIOUSLY ILL; BLOOD NEEDED

An appeal to blood donors was made today by Richard S. Codori, North Stratton St., for donations of blood, any type, to replenish the supply in the blood bank of the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia. Nineteen pints of blood from the hospital supply had been used in transfusions for Richard C. Codori, 23-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Codori, following an operation last week. He is a graduate of Penn State University in industrial engineering and is employed by Bethlehem Steel.

Young Codori had been sent to Philadelphia by his physician for a minor operation for observation purposes after he had been suffering from recent headaches. A critical situation developed during the operation. He was given deep-freeze treatment and a number of blood transfusions before he emerged from a critical stage. At one time it was feared for his life. Additional transfusions will be required. His condition today is serious.

Philadelphia hospital authorities, asked Mr. Codori if he could secure blood donations from the Gettysburg area to replenish the supply that was used on his son. They said they will accept any type because there is always a demand for blood of all types in Philadelphia.

Those willing to donate blood are asked to call the local Red Cross office, Gettysburg 132, and arrangements will be made, at their convenience, to make their donations either in York or Harrisburg. Transportation will be furnished.

Each year people have come from throughout Pennsylvania and even beyond its borders to put on a program at the cemetery here. The only one of its kind in the world. In fact this is the only place it can be held."

Remove 25 Bodies From Plane Crash In Caracas Mountains

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The bodies of 25 persons killed in the crash of a New York-to-Caracas airliner were brought down by cable car last night from the cloud-shrouded mountains at the city's edge.

There were no survivors.

The dead included 10 Americans, among them 26-year-old Negro outfielder Charles Peete of Omaha, Neb., the American Assn.'s 1956 batting champion, his wife and three children.

The Venezuelan airliner, swinging in from the Caribbean through a rainstorm to land at Maquetia, Caracas' seaside airport, plunged into a wooded mountain of the Boca Chica range.

Wreckage and the bodies of the 18 passengers and 7 crewmen were scattered over the area of a city block. The point of impact was about 150 feet from the crest.

It was the second crash in just over five months for the government-owned Linea Aeropostal Venezolana. One of the line's planes caught fire after a New York take-off last June 20 and plunged 74 persons to death in the Atlantic off Asbury Park, N.J. — the world's worst disaster on a regular airline flight up to that date. Ten days later 128 persons were killed in the collision of two U.S. airliners over the Grand Canyon.

American financier Nelson Rockefeller had booked passage on the ill-fated plane but switched to another flight from New York to get a berth. He arrived safely for an inspection of his varied interests here.

Other Yanks Killed
Peete, property of the St. Louis Cardinals, was en route to play winter ball in Venezuela. He had a .350 hitting average this past season.

Other American dead were Robert Bernard of Central Falls, R.I.; Benjamin Rabin, 35, Belmont, Wis.; Helen M. Stone, Evans J. Thomas, 41, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and John Ziock, 38, Nesquehoning, Pa.

Thomas was en route to Venezuela on business for the Gulf Oil Co. Ziock was chief clerk of the Bethlehem Steel Co. offices at El Paso. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Ziock of Nesquehoning.

Tension Between Syria And Iraq Reaches Fever Pitch; Open Break Expected Soon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The drumbeats of tension between Syria and Iraq mounted today. The feeling grew that some sort of break — either in Damascus or Baghdad — might come within days.

Informed circles saw the likelihood of an open row by the army clique that has taken control of Syria in recent weeks. The army clique, pro-Soviet although non-Communist, is led by Col. Abdul Hamid Sadeq.

The Syrian-Iraqi rift built up in a continuing exchange of bitter charges. Jordan's decision to cut ties with Britain and consider closer relations with Russia undermined the possibility of deeper Syrian penetration into the turbulent Middle East.

Charge Subversive Campaign
The Syrian State of Damascus has charged Iraq with a subversive campaign to extend its Middle East influence. Syria also has been seeking to bring the governments of Iraq, Syria and Jordan.

The latest case came as a Damascus radio broadcast which claimed a delegation of Iraqi politicians had called on King Faisal to dismiss Nuri Said's government. The official Syrian radio said the delegation urged Faisal to appoint a government "responsive to national demands concentrated on the withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact."

There was no confirmation from Baghdad of the report. Both Iraq and Lebanon previously have accused Syria's radio and press of spreading false stories and spreading the warlike charges to alienate Iraq and Lebanon from the West.

Pact Is Target
The Baghdad Pact, prime target of Syria, Egypt and Russia, links Iraq, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Britain in an alliance designed to meet the threat of Communist aggression.

COLD WEATHER SWEEPS SOUTH INTO ALABAMA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold air in the Eastern section of the country dipped into the Southland today and a fresh blast of icy air and strong winds moved into northern Midwest areas.

The chilly weather extended from the lower Great Lakes to Alabama and eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Temperatures were generally in the 20s in most of the areas except along the coast, where they were in the 30s and in southern Florida, which reported readings in the 40s. Miami was fairly cool with temperatures in the low 40s.

The readings in the Eastern and Southern areas were about 8 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Snow flurries fell in areas from New York southward through West Virginia.

Headed For Missouri

Northwesterly winds averaging from 25 to 35 m.p.h. fanned a cold Canadian air and snow flurries over the Dakotas and into northwestern Minnesota. The wintry blasts headed South and Eastward and were expected to cover the upper Great Lakes and as far South as Missouri and northern Oklahoma during the day. Fairly heavy snowfalls were in prospect near the eastern side of Lake Michigan.

During the night southerly winds brought a general warming from eastern New Mexico to Louisiana and northeastward to the upper Great Lakes region. Temperatures were about 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier, ranging from the upper 20s in the north to the 40s in southern Texas.

Generally clear skies, with little change in temperatures, were forecast for the Western third of the country except for freezing drizzle in sections of northern Idaho.

ASSAULT CASE BEING PROBED

State police today continued their investigation into the alleged assault and battery on Miss Julia Petrow, S. Washington St., Saturday night. Police said that no charges have been brought as yet in connection with the case.

Borough police started the investigation Sunday upon complaint of Miss Petrow that she had been in company of three men and had been struck in the face by one of the men. She suffered two black eyes.

Borough police in their investigation learned that the three men reside outside Gettysburg and that the alleged assault took place outside Gettysburg, and turned the matter over to state police.

A man described by Miss Petrow as her assailant was arrested and then discharged when Miss Petrow admitted she had the wrong name.

Police said as they understood it Miss Petrow met the three men on Chambersburg St. and asked that they take her to a tavern. The four visited a tavern in the western part of the county, police said, and Miss Petrow claims one of the men struck her as the group was returning to Gettysburg.

Bes-Gurion Likens Nasser To Hitler

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP) — Premier David Ben-Gurion appealed to the world today to "stop Nasser now."

Likening the Egyptian President to Hitler, he said methods applied by Egyptian authorities in expelling stateless Jews and depriving many others of Egyptian citizenship clearly recalls methods used by the Nazis.

Ben-Gurion told Parliament a number of Egyptian cars captured in Sinai bore the swastika marking and that an Arabic translation of "Mein Kampf" was found in the baggage of a number of Egyptian officers taken prisoner by the Israelis.

He presented a resolution, immediately adopted, expressing "profound shock at atrocities perpetrated against the Jews of Egypt by the Egyptian military junta and that country's dictator, who is trampling into the dust the rights of men."

DORSEY DEATH "ACCIDENTAL"

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Investigators said today there is no question that band leader Tommy Dorsey died accidentally.

Both Greenwich Police Chief David W. Robbins and Fairfield County Coroner Edgar Krentzman said confusion about notes left in the palatial home where Dorsey was found dead Monday afternoon should not be allowed to lend an aura of mystery to the case.

Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said Dorsey had become ill in his bedroom, had suffered an attack of nausea and had choked to death on food particles which lodged in his throat. Dr. Knapp signed a certificate yesterday attributing death to accidental asphyxiation.

The case took a new turn yesterday when Chief Robbins said that a note made public Monday by Dorsey's personal manager, Tino Barzile, purportedly written by Dorsey to his wife and couched in affectionate terms, was not authentic and was not written by Dorsey.

The chief said Dorsey had written a note to his wife, but that it was not the one released by Barzile, who said the musician was an habitual note writer and that it was not unusual for him to leave them scattered about the house.

DUMP NEAR BENDERSVILLE IS ORDERED CLOSED

John Sheffer, a representative of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, met with the Bendersville Borough Council Monday evening and advised that the department has learned a piece of private property, just outside of town in Menallen Twp., that has been used as a common dump by the community, is in deplorable condition and in violation of rules of the Health Department. He advised that the location was too near a public stream and that all solid wastes, such as ashes, tin cans, boxes, garbage and other refuse must be burned or covered daily. The owners of the property have been notified to clean this up by burning off and covering with ground. Signs are being posted that the dump has been officially closed by the Pennsylvania Department of Health and that offenders will be fined in the future.

John E. Thomas, Burgess of Biglerville, was invited to the meeting since some Biglerville residents have also been using this property as a dump. The council considered the possibility of purchasing other suitable land and the necessary equipment to maintain a sanitary dump, but found it was too expensive and impractical. It was pointed out that a refuse collector comes into town every week and persons having need of this service should contact some member of the council for detailed information.

The laying of the new six-inch transite water main on Railroad St. has been completed including the installation of new fire hydrants. The highway department will begin to make an entire new street in that part of town in the very near future.

Let me kiss away your tears... let me paint your face with smiles... so that life will be a journey... void of dark and dreary miles... listen to my tender story... all about the way I care... then allow me to caress you... and of all your sorrows share... grant me wholehearted permission... to be part of all you do... and, darling, I will try my best... to make your dreams come true... for the road of life is smoother... when you travel hand in hand... with a dear devoted someone... who will always understand... hear my heart's request, my dearest... answer yes, you won't do wrong... for I deem it as a privilege... to help make your life a song.

To Save Motorists Money

"The impact of the federal highway program will be felt in every part of the Commonwealth and the nation," Ludington said. "Part of the impact you are feeling right now is increased taxes. But the highway program should actually save you money." Mr. Ludington said. "You will be paying about $9 a year for additional taxes, but if you drive an average of 10,000 miles a year it should save you $100 a year in increased economical use of your car. That means a net of $91 a year on an average for each motorist after the highway construction is completed. That money will go somewhere and it will probably mean more money spent for just about everything.

TEACHERS MEET ON CURRICULUM

Another in the series of meetings being held to develop an integrated curriculum for the special education classes of the county was held Monday evening at the Day Care Training Center, E. High St., with the home economics teachers of the county meeting with the special education teachers.

Miss E. Elizabeth Rutledge, special education supervisor for the county, said the series of meeting will probably continue over the next several years as the special education teachers meet with various groups of teachers on various subject matters to build a program for the special education classes. The county is pioneering in its approach to the special education program, Miss Rutledge said, because there is no curriculum prepared for the special education courses. The plan is to secure various projects from the home economics teachers, industrial arts teachers and others that can be used in the training given in the special classes along with special courses in reading and arithmetic given the youngsters.

So far meetings have been held with the home economics and industrial arts teachers. The next meetings will be January 8 with the industrial arts teachers and January 28 with the home economics teachers. Miss Marie Welschmuth, Fairfield home economics teacher, will be hostess for the January 28 meeting.

Miss Rutledge said it is hoped that Mrs. Charles S. Reinhold, chief of home economics for the state Department of Public Instruction, and Margaret Hower, home economist now conducting special classes at Camp Curtin Junior High School, can meet with the countians at the January 28 meeting.

"MY HEART'S REQUEST"

Let me kiss away your tears... let me paint your face with smiles... so that life will be a journey... void of dark and dreary miles... listen to my tender story... all about the way I care... then allow me to caress you... and of all your sorrows share... grant me wholehearted permission... to be part of all you do... and, darling, I will try my best... to make your dreams come true... for the road of life is smoother... when you travel hand in hand... with a dear devoted someone... who will always understand... hear my heart's request, my dearest... answer yes, you won't do wrong... for I deem it as a privilege... to help make your life a song.

tary club at their meeting Tuesday evening were given an illustrated lecture on "The Impact of Federal Highway Legislation on You, Your Community and Your State." Dwight M. Lundington, public relations representative for Pennsylvania of the Portland Cement Association, was the speaker.

To Save Motorists Money

"The impact of the federal highway program will be felt in every part of the Commonwealth and the nation," Lundington said. "Part of the impact you are feeling right now is increased taxes. But the highway program should actually save you money," Mr. Lundington said. "You will be paying about $9 a year for additional taxes, but if you drive an average of 10,000 miles a year it should save you $100 a year in increased economic use of your car. That means a net of $91 a year on an average for each motorist after the highway construction is completed. That money will go somewhere and it will probably mean more money spent for just about everything."

COLD WEATHER SWEEPS SOUTH INTO ALABAMA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold air in the Eastern section of the country dipped into the Southland today and a fresh blast of icy air and strong winds moved into northern Midwest areas.

The chilly weather extended from the lower Great Lakes to Alabama and eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Temperatures were generally in the 20s in most of the areas except along the coast, where they were in the 30s and in southern Florida, which reported readings in the 40s. Miami was fairly cool with temperatures in the low 40s.

The readings in the Eastern and Southern areas were about 8 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Snow flurries fell in areas from New York southward through West Virginia.

Headed For Missouri

Northwesterly winds averaging from 25 to 35 m.p.h. fanned a cold Canadian air and snow flurries over the Dakotas and into northwestern Minnesota. The wintry blasts headed South and Eastward and were expected to cover the upper Great Lakes and as far South as Missouri and northern Oklahoma during the day. Fairly heavy snowfalls were in prospect near the eastern side of Lake Michigan.

During the night southerly winds brought a general warming from eastern New Mexico to Louisiana and northeastward to the upper Great Lakes region. Temperatures were about 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier, ranging from the upper 20s in the north to the 40s in southern Texas.

Generally clear skies, with little change in temperatures, were forecast for the Western third of the country except for freezing drizzle in sections of northern Idaho.

ASSAULT CASE BEING PROBED

State police today continued their investigation into the alleged assault and battery on Miss Julia Fetrow, S. Washington St., Saturday night. Police said that no charges have been brought as yet in connection with the case.

Borough police started the investigation Sunday upon complaint of Miss Fetrow that she had been in company of three men and had been struck in the face by one of the men. She suffered two black eyes.

Borough police in their investigation learned that the three men reside outside Gettysburg and that the alleged assault took place outside Gettysburg, and turned the matter over to state police.

A man described by Miss Fetrow as her assailant was arrested and then discharged when Miss Fetrow admitted she had the wrong name.

Police said as they understood it Miss Fetrow met the three men on Chambersburg St. and asked that they take her to a tavern. The four visited a tavern in the western part of the county, police said, and Miss Fetrow claims one of the men struck her as the group was returning to Gettysburg.

Bes-Gurion Likens Nasser To Hitler

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (P) — Premier David Ben-Gurion appealed to the world today to "stop Nasser now."

Likening the Egyptian President to Hitler, he said methods applied by Egyptian authorities in expelling stateless Jews and depriving many others of Egyptian citizenship clearly recalls methods used by the Nazis.

Ben-Gurion told Parliament a number of Egyptian cars captured in Sinai bore the swastika marking and that an Arabic translation of "Mein Kampf" was found in the baggage of a number of Egyptian officers taken prisoner by the Israelis.

He presented a resolution, immediately adopted, expressing "profound shock at atrocities perpetrated against the Jews of Egypt by the Egyptian military junta and that country's dictator, who is trampling into the dust the rights of men."

He advised that the location was too near a public stream and that all solid wastes, such as ashes, tin cans, boxes, garbage and other refuse must be burned or covered daily. The owners of the property have been notified to clean this up by burning off and covering with ground. DORSEY DEATH "ACCIDENTAL"

GREENWICH, Conn. (P) — Investigators said today there is no question that bandleader Tommy Dorsey died accidentally.

Both Greenwich Police Chief David W. Robbins and Fairfield County Coroner Edgar Krentzman said confusion about notes left in the palatial home where Dorsey was found dead Monday afternoon should not be allowed to lend an aura of mystery to the case.

Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said Dorsey had become ill in his bedroom, had suffered an attack of nausea and had choked to death on food particles which lodged in his throat. Dr. Knapp signed a certificate yesterday attributing death to accidental asphyxiation.

The case took a new turn yesterday when Chief Robbins said that a note made public Monday by Dorsey's personal manager, Tino Barzile, purportedly written by Dorsey to his wife and couched in affectionate terms, was not authentic and was "not written by Dorsey."

The chief said Dorsey had written a note to his wife, but that it was not the one released by Barzile, who said the musician was an habitual note writer and that it was not unusual for him to leave them scattered about the house.

Today's Talk

EN ROUTE
When we speak of traveling "En Route" it means that we are at no definite place, but are experiencing the thrill of many places and many interests. We are traveling in between! Between our birth and death we are moving en route.

What different stories and interpretations come to all of us in life! Many pass through without seeing anything. They just look, without any thinking. Every day should fill us with wonder. No matter where we live, or go, something miraculous is going on. It may be no more than the molecules stirring in the bricks or stones of buildings, or the endless secrets that lie sleeping under our very footfalls!

Something is moving in the world all the time. And here I name a few of the watchers: Newton, Franklin, Lister, Pasteur, Galileo. Each knew that there are miracles going on in the world all the time, and so kept tuned that he might discover to the profit of all mankind, and such was the case with each of the ones I have named.

During our en route each day we cannot help but be inspired and enlightened by some of the simplest sights. This summer I stopped and looked for a long time upon a perfect spider's web. What a work of natural genius! How did it all happen? Each slender thread a contribution to a perfect form of art.

Within a few blocks of my office there are wonders about which no other city in the world can boast. Yet very few ever comment on any of them. Some people travel around the world but have accumulated very little knowledge to impart to others upon their return! Strange, isn't it? On a ship you will note people at writing desks, during the entire voyage, sending messages dated en route.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Retrospect!"

He'll work although the hour is late.
I wish that I could do the same.

No putter-off of tasks is he;
What is to do is quickly done.
His desk from last week's mail is free.

He gladly toils from sun to sun.
He seldom slips away to see
A football or a baseball game.
His office hours are eight to three.
I wish that mine could be the same.

An excellent committeeman;
On him his fellows can depend.
He'll always do the best he can
And be to all he knows a friend.
The banquet for his group he'll plan
And gladly take the praise or blame.

He keeps himself a busy man.
I wish that I could do the same.
But no! On him I often lean
And share the rising vote of thanks;

I seem to choose the life serene.
On lazy men nobody banks.
He decorates the banquet hall.
He does the various tasks I shirk.
I criticize, but that is all.

I have no great desire to work.

Pennsylvania's Capitol Is 50 Years Old; Dedicated By Late President Theodore Roosevelt

The state Capitol of 11 million Pennsylvanians is 50 years old this year. Many changes have occurred both in the Main Capitol Building and the surrounding area since President Theodore Roosevelt spoke at the dedication ceremonies on October 4, 1906.

Several new buildings have been erected to house the ever-increasing offices of state government; some buildings are in the process of construction; and still others are in the planning stages.

The most extensive building program after completion of the Capitol Building followed the so-called Brunner Plan, named after the noted architect, Arnold W. Brunner. This plan resulted in construction of the South Office Building (1919); the North Office Building (1929); the Education Building (1931); and the Finance Building (1939).

Park Extension Program.

After World War II, the state launched another major construction program on land purchased to the north of Capitol Park by the Capitol Park Extension Commission. Under construction and soon to be ready for occupancy is the 11-story Health and Welfare Building, which will house a daily work population of 2,000 employees. This is the first building to be constructed on land acquired by the Capitol Park Extension Commission. The final cost will be in the neighborhood of $8,000,000.

Other projects to be undertaken as part of the Capitol Park Extension program include a building for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Revenue; an underground garage in the area between the Finance Building and the new Health and Welfare Building; and a parking lot between Third and East Streets. The new parking facilities are expected to increase parking capacity from 1,300 to 2,900 automobiles. These projects have the approval of the General Assembly and of the General State Authority, which will finance the construction by sale of bonds.

Although not strictly within the Capitol Park Extension area, the first building to be completed since World War II was the mammoth 18-story Labor and Industry Building. This building was accepted by Governor George M. Leader for the Commonwealth last May. Total cost was approximately $10,000,000.

Long-Range Plans
The major concern of state officials and architects responsible for future building plans in the Capitol area is to erect buildings which will be both functional and attractive.

Although the need for new buildings is fully recognized, it is considered equally important to keep the existing buildings in good condition. The first large-scale modernization program in the Capitol's 50-year history was completed recently at a total cost of $3,000,000 for new plumbing, air conditioning, wiring, painting, and other improvements.

An important consideration in any future plans for expansion is the need for acquiring land. The Department of Property and Supplies is in charge of land buying, which is an expensive proposition in the Capitol Hill area. The 1955-56 session of the General Assembly appropriated $590,000 for the purchase of additional land.

Cost Of Constructing Capitol
The 50-year-old Main Capitol Building, situated on an 80-acre tract of land known as Capitol Hill, is the dominant structure in a cluster of state office buildings.

The cost of constructing the Capitol was approximately $10,000,000. To duplicate the present structure at today's prices, however, contractors estimate that it would cost at least $30,000,000, or three times the original amount. Designed in the classic style adapted from the architecture of the Italian Renaissance, the Capitol is 520 feet long, 254 feet wide through the center, and 212 feet wide through each of its side wings. The building is 100 feet high at most points, but the dome towers to a height of 272 feet.

Surmounting the dome is a bronze and gilded statue of "Miss Penn." modeled by R. Hinton Perry. This figure, symbolizing the Commonwealth, measures 14 and one-half feet in height. She is holding aloft a garlanded mace.

The Capitol dome consists of two domes or shells — an inner dome and an outer dome — with room between the two domes for workmen to move freely. It weighs 52 million pounds, or 26 thousand tons. To support this tremendous weight, there are four piers or pillars, which are 29 feet, three inches in diameter at the base and taper to a diameter of 12 feet, six inches. The four piers are constructed of bricks — seven million in all — reinforced with iron columns and bars. An additional three million bricks are contained in the superstructure.

The tremendous downward pressure on these piers is estimated at 7,000 pounds per square foot. Although the dome is supported entirely by these four piers, the rest of the Capitol is structurally independent of them. If the rest of the Capitol Building were entirely removed, the dome would remain supported atop the four piers which are sunk seven feet deep into a natural bed of slate-like shale.

The People's Portal
At the central entrance to the Main Capitol are huge bronze doors, richly decorated with sculptured reliefs. These doors were designed by Joseph M. Huston, the architect for the building; modeled by Otto Jahnson; and cast by the Henry Bonnard Bronze Company. On the sides of the doors, a series of sculptured heads portrays the men responsible for the building of the Capitol. This main entrance is known as the People's Portal because it is never shut to the people of the Commonwealth except for a brief period during inauguration ceremonies for a new Governor.

The bronze leaves on the main doors each weigh one ton, but they are so delicately adjusted that little more than the pressure of a finger is sufficient to slide them back and forth. Each leaf was cast as a single unit rather than in sections, a procedure which requires great skill on the part of the craftsman.

The process used is known technically as "cire perdue," or lost wax. A craftsman employing this method must put full faith in a successful first casting. To achieve fine detail, a wax mold is used. When hot metal is poured into the mold, the wax melts; and if an imperfection develops, not only is the casting of no value, but the original design or wax mold is destroyed and the arduous task of modeling must be redone.

Barnard Groups Of Statuary
Another point of interest at the Capitol entrance is the Barnard groups of statuary, which flank the sides of the central entrance facing west. These two heroic groups of statuary in Italian Carrara marble were executed by George Grey Barnard, a Pennsylvania-born sculptor. To the right, facing the entrance, is a group of men and women in attitudes representing the spiritual burdens carried by mankind. The group to the left symbolizes humanity's spiritual advancement through the inspiration of work and brotherhood.

Among the outstanding features of the Capitol interior are the great rotunda below the dome, the Senate Chamber, the House of Representatives Chamber, the Appellate Court Room, the Governor's Suite, and the Lieutenant governor's rooms. Throughout the Capitol, the walls are enriched by paintings by several notable Pennsylvania artists. These include W. B. Van Ingen, Edwin Austin Abbey, and Violet Oakley.

The richly-colored pavements throughout the rotunda and both main corridors is interspersed with more than 400 tile mosaics designed and executed by Henry C. Mercer, of Doylestown. These mosaics represent animals, birds and flowers, as well as industries, occupations and ways of travel common throughout Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg became the Capital of Pennsylvania in October, 1812, as the result of legislation passed in 1810. Two fireproof buildings were constructed to hold the books and records of state officials, and the Dauphin County Courthouse was renovated to accommodate the two Houses of the General Assembly. In 1819, work began on the first State Capitol at Harrisburg. This building was completed and dedicated on January 2, 1822.

1897 Fire Destroys Capitol
The old Capitol Building burned on Tuesday, February 2, 1897, on the eve of the Spanish-American War. The fire started under the floor of the lieutenant governor's office at one o'clock in the afternoon. The Senate had recessed for lunch, but the House of Representatives was still in session. The fire spread so rapidly that flames swept through the doors of the House as it was adjourning, but all of the representatives managed to escape from the building unharmed.

The Grace Methodist Episcopal Church in State Street was made available to the Legislature immediately, and it was there that sessions were conducted until a new building was completed.

The Legislature appropriated $550,000 for construction of a new Capitol Building, which was completed in 1899. The new building resembled a large square brick warehouse, and was universally termed an architectural monstrosity. In describing the building, Governor Daniel H. Hastings said in part, "It is made of common brick, embedded in cheap mortar, looks like a hastily erected factory building, and is repulsive to the eye."

The Legislature of 1899 abolished the old Capitol Commission, created a new body, and appropriated $4,000,000 for the construction of a building in keeping with the dignity of a great State. The new building's cornerstone was laid on May 5, 1904, and Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker dedicated the building on October 4, 1906. President Theodore Roosevelt was the main speaker at the dedication ceremonies. The "in-between" Capitol Building became the brick center core of the new structure, with its imposing exterior of Vermont granite.

The architect for the present 475-room building was Joseph M. Huston, of Philadelphia, who was commissioned to his task in 1902.

Growth Of Capitol Hill
Today, on an 80-acre plot in the heart of Harrisburg stand the buildings which comprise Capitol Hill. The original buildings were located on land given to the Commonwealth in the form of two grants by John Harris, founder of Harrisburg, and William Macley, his son-in-law and one of the first United States Senators from Pennsylvania. The area was increased in 1873 to 15 acres, and between 1912 and 1919 the State acquired 30 more acres east from the Capitol Building to the Pennsylvania Railroad. In 1916 Arnold W. Brunner was commissioned to formulate plans for the future development of the area. In 1943 the General Assembly created the Capitol Park Extension Commission to examine and approve plans for acquiring land to the north of the present Capitol group.

The State Museum Building located to the south of the main Capitol Building is the oldest building in the Capitol group. Designed by the well-known architect, James H. Windrim, it was built in 1893-94 and was intended to be, and was for a time, the Governor's Office, State Library, and Executive Office Building. The State Museum and the offices of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission are presently located in this building. One of the outstanding features of the interior is the famous painting of the Battle of Gettysburg by the noted Pennsylvania artist, Peter Rothermel. One of the largest mural paintings in the world, it occupies the entire rear wall of the second floor.

The Brunner Plan
The first building of the four constructed under the Brunner Plan was the South Office Building (Number 1), which was authorized in 1919 and constructed at a total cost of $3,250,000. Murals by Edward Trumbull on the main floor of this seven-story building are an outstanding feature of the interior. This structure is almost exactly balanced by the North Office Building (Number 1), which was completed and occupied in 1929 at a cost of $3,000,000.

The South Office Building (Number 2), commonly referred to as the Education Building, was authorized in 1929 and completed in 1931. In addition to office space, this building contains the famous Forum, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,833. The State Library and the Law Library also are located in this building. The architects were William Gehron and Sidney Ross, and the cost was $5,500,000.

The North Office Building (Number 2), known as the Finance Building, was completed in 1939 at a total cost of $4,825,000. The General State Authority financed construction of this building, and Gehron and Ross were the architects.

Among the artistic features of these buildings are sculptures in bronze by Carl P. Jennevein, Harry Kreis, Lee Lawrie, and Harry Miles. Vincent Maragliotti and Eugene Savage designed the ceiling murals in the Education and Finance buildings.

Construction Outside Area
The Northwest Office Building, which houses the offices of the Liquor Control Board, was first occupied in 1940. Designed by Verus T. Ritter, of Philadelphia, this seven-story building lies outside the Capitol Hill area proper but is within easy walking distance. It was constructed at a cost of $1,200,000 which was partially paid for by a grant of $54,000 provided by the Federal government. The Commonwealth provided the balance from Liquor Control Board profits.

Situated still further from the Capitol Hill group is the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building, which was dedicated by Governor John S. Fisher in 1931. Constructed at a cost of $1,440,000, the building contains 425,000 square feet of floor space and covers a 13-acre area. The arena, which was dedicated in 1932, cost an additional $1,250,000. The building is used for the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show and more recently has been utilized for large political gatherings and for other public events.

Plans For The Future
Discussions have been held concerning the construction of a new museum and archives building, which has been designated the "William Penn Memorial." No definite plans have been made for this project, however. Another project under consideration would involve demolition of the temporary buildings directly behind the Capitol and development of a "People's Court" in that area. This development, which is part of the Brunner Plan, would provide much needed space for large public gatherings, such as inauguration ceremonies.

Another new development is the construction of state office buildings outside the Capital City. Under construction is a 16-story office building in Pittsburgh, which will cost approximately $6,500,000. Another large office building is planned for Philadelphia. These buildings will house the many state offices now scattered in rented buildings throughout both cities.

It is impossible to say exactly what the future holds in store for the development of the Capitol Hill area, but it is safe to assume that favorable action by the General Assembly will result in a well-planned grouping of attractive buildings, which should be a source of pride to all Pennsylvanians.

VENTURA, Calif. — County made this suggestion during a discussion on the proposed hiring of a $1,104-a-month psychiatrist for the school system.

"It would be a lot cheaper to hire switches for the teachers," The supervisors made no decision yesterday on the psychiatrist. But they didn't order any switches, either.

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — Four men who pleaded guilty to theft charges have been sentenced to six years each in the Maryland Penitentiary.

The four sentenced yesterday were Melvin Deshong, 26; Leroy F. Files, 32 both of Hagerstown; Emitt Walker, 28, of Baltimore, and Russell R. Sunderland, 30, of York, Pa.

They entered pleas before Judge D. K. McLaughlin in Washington County Circuit Court on charges of walking off with a safe containing $500 from the Nehi Bottling Co. and stealing tools from a hardware store here Nov. 6.

The three Marylanders escaped from the House of Correction about a month ago.

Second Hearing On New School Site
HARRISBURG (P)—Dr. Charles Long, chairman of a special committee investigating a controversy over location of a new joint school, said his groups would hold a second hearing in Watsonstown "soon."

Long reported that a Watsonstown citizens committee was not represented at a hearing Nov. 15 in that community. The hearing was aimed at settling a dispute over location of the Warrior Run school.

The second hearing has been called, Long said, to enable the citizens group, one of the protesters against construction of the school on a site selected by area school officials, to state its case.

Long said he has not set a date for the hearing pending contact with the group's counsel.

U.S. Boosts Gold Medal Total To 18 With Wins In 110-Meter Hurdles And O'Brien's Shot Put

By TED SMITS
MELBOURNE (AP) — Uncle Sam's powerful Olympic team boosted its gold medal total to 18 today with a sweep in the 110-meter hurdles behind surprising Lee Calhoun and Parry O'Brien's record shot put. But Russia's Vladimir Kouts matched Bobby Morrow's double by winning his second distance run.

Calhoun, a lanky North Carolina College student from Gary, Ind., whipped Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., the world record holder, in a blanket finish. Lee Shanks of Durham, N.C., grabbed the bronze medal for third. It was so close both Calhoun and Davis were clocked in 13.5 seconds, beating Harrison Dillard's 1952 Olympic record of 13.7.

Tops Record 6 Times
O'Brien did the expected by repeating his Helsinki triumph in the shot put. The young giant from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., shattered his own Olympic record with each of his six tosses and finally settled for a new mark of 60 feet 11 inches. Both Bill Nieder of Lawrence, Kan., with 59-7 3/4, and Jiri Skobla of Czechoslovakia with 57-10 1/2, topped the old standard while finishing second and third. So did Ken Bantum of New York, with 57-4 for fourth place.

The U.S. missed a potential sweep in the discus but the 1-2-3 finish in the hurdles was its fourth of the Olympics, duplicating America's efforts in the 200-meters, 400-meter hurdles and discus.

Russia enjoyed its greatest day with four gold medals for a total of 10 with Kouts' victory in the 5,000-meter, its first sweep in the 20-kilometer walk, Inessa Iakounzen's winning effort in the women's javelin and a come-from-behind success in the modern pentathlon team competition.

U. S. Still Leading
In the day's competition, Russia outscored the U.S. 64-44 but the unofficial point table still showed Uncle Sam out front of Russia, 206-214.

Another capacity crowd of 100,000 thrilled to a second Australian gold medal in women's track when Shirley Strickland de la Hunty skinned over the 80-meter hurdles in 10.7 seconds, breaking the accepted world record to repeat her Helsinki victory of four years ago. The three American girls had been eliminated in the heats.

Sweden snatched the other gold medal awarded on this brisk day when Lars Hall also repeated his 1952 triumph in the individual phase of the modern pentathlon. The teams and individuals finished the five-event competition with the 4,000-meter cross country run.

Qualify In 400 Meters
The American pentathlon team was second to Russia after leading through the earlier events and George Lambert of Sioux City, Ia., was fifth among the individuals. Bill Andre of Montclair, N. J., was seventh and Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., 13th.

Lou Jones of New Rochelle, N. Y., America's best bet, sped home first in two heats of the 400-meter to qualify for tomorrow's semifinals and finals along with Charlie Jenkins of Villanova and Cambridge, Mass. However, the third American, Jim Lea of San Jose, Calif., was eliminated when he came in fifth in the third heat of the second round. Jones' times were 48.1 seconds and 47.4 about two seconds off the record.

The U. S. team had won 11 of the first 17 events in men's track and field with seven more to go. It has potential winners in the decathlon starting tomorrow, the 400-meters and the two hurdles Saturday. The steeplechase, 400-meters, opening of the decathlon and the first heats in both men's and women's swimming are important events on the Thursday schedule.

Loss Women's Events
America was blanked in points in the two women's events, javelin and 800-meter hurdles, and in the 5,000-meter run and long walk for men.

Both members of the Zatopek family from Czechoslovakia, Emil and his wife, Dana, saw their Olympic record broken. Kamil, winning from Great Britain's Gordon Pirie by a quarter of a lap, set a new mark of 13 minutes 39.6 seconds in the 5,000-meters. Pirie and Britain's Derek Ibbotson all bettered Zatopek's old standard of 14:06.6 set in 1952. Dana's

MINK, MUSKRAT SEASONS OPEN, CLOSE TOGETHER

On Saturday Pennsylvania bear hunters will be winding up their season and other big game hunters will be going to camp or making final preparations for the December 3 deer season opener. Also, on Saturday, thousands of men and boys will go quietly about the business of setting traps for minks and muskrats. This is the first time in many years the mink and muskrat seasons have opened and closed on the same dates.

The mink population appears to remain steady in the state. The opening date set was reasoned to be the most logical to fairly accommodate both mink and muskrat trappers in both the upper and lower tier counties.

Population trends in muskrats continue to be favorably reported, so the Commission set the season comparable to that of last year. Considering all factors the season established should be most satisfactory for the entire state.

Low Prices For Pelts
Extremely low prices for the pelts of skunks and opossums have resulted in the increase of these animals to such an extent they constitute a definite menace to ground nesting game birds and animals. This motivated the Commission's decision to continue the removal of protection from both these furbearers for an indefinite period.

Mink and muskrat trappers may begin setting their traps at 7 a.m. Saturday. These traps must be lifted not later than noon the last day of the season, January 15, 1957. Traps must be tagged with metal name tags. A trapper may set any number of mink and muskrat traps, and the catch of these animals is unlimited.

The Game Commission congratulated the sportsmen of Pennsylvania on their exemplary conduct, as a group, during the forest small game hunting period in October.

Reports received at the Commission office indicate that, generally, the conduct of hunters during the week was praiseworthy.

No Violation Increase
The low number of game law infractions in that period refutes the theory that opening the season on certain small game species while it was closed on others would result in increased violations of the game law.

For example, squirrel hunters in farm woodlots or in timber on the edge of agricultural land did not shoot rumphecks and rabbits prior to the October 27 opening on these species as was predicted by some hunters.

Hunters for turkeys, grouse and squirrels concentrated in the forested northern counties on October 20 and the remaining days prior to the general small game opener.

This apparently relieved the gun pressure on farmlands in all but a few counties on October 27.

JOE LOUIS IS PICKING MOORE TO TAKE TITLE
By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP) — Former champion Joe Louis picked Archie Moore to beat Floyd Patterson in their heavyweight title bout at Chicago Stadium Friday night. The Brown Bomber thinks Moore will win by a knockout.

Louis is one of many former titleholders to pick Archie Moore in the fight which will be nationally televised and is expected to draw 18,000 in black-out Chicago.

Joe Maxim, who lost the light heavyweight title to Moore, and failed to regain it in two tries, is the only man to have beaten Patterson in his 31 fights. Maxim favors Moore.

Mariano's Choice, Too
Rocky Marciano, who knocked out Moore in September, 1955 and then called it quits, also chooses Moore.

Louis predicted Moore will win by a knockout.

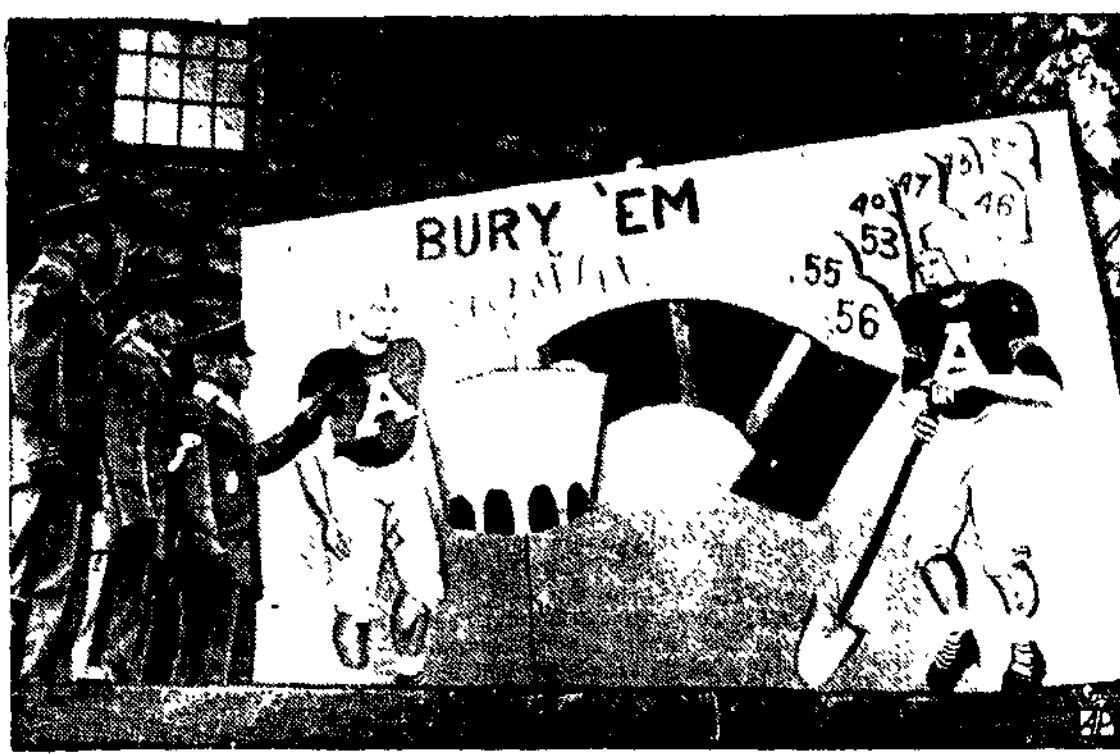

The man who ruled the heavyweight ranks for more than a decade despised notions that fighters are never the same after being knocked out by Marciano.

Title Later For Floyd
"Archie didn't take any beating when he lost to Marciano," Louis said. "Moore was exhausted but not hurt. Rocky just wore him down. If Rocky had hit Moore with the punch which he won the title in the 13th round at Philly from Jesse, Joe Walcott and a different story."

But Moore has proven himself in winning 11 fights since he lost to Marciano, and something like that restores a man's confidence. Patterson will fight Moore at the New Orleans Coliseum Saturday night. Patterson is expected to win.

MAKE COTTON BOWL CHOICE ON SATURDAY

DALLAS (AP) — Four teams — Navy, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Syracuse — will furnish the visiting team in the Cotton Bowl and the selection will be made Saturday.

President Bob Cullum said today that the field to provide Texas Christian's opponent in the Jan. 1 football game here had been narrowed to these and that Pittsburgh, which had been a contender, had been dropped because of a late game.

Pitt, with a 6-2-1 record, plays Miami Dec. 8 at Miami and that's too late for the Cotton Bowl to wait.

He would not indicate which of the four left in the running was the leading contender but, indicating that they all are being strongly considered, said communication lines would be established for a quick conference with all when games involving three of them were over.

Navy plays Army at Philadelphia Saturday while Tennessee clashes with Vanderbilt at Nashville and Georgia Tech plays Georgia at Athens Ga. Syracuse has already finished the season with a 7-1 record, its only loss being 14-7 to Pittsburgh.

TWO KILLED IN MID-AIR CRASH

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Marine lieutenant and another student pilot died yesterday in the mid-air collision of their Navy jet trainer planes near here.

The victims were Marine 2nd Lt. Kenneth E. Walker, 25, son of Mrs. Joseph E. Dempsey of Birchrunville, Chester County, Pa., and Naval aviation cadet Elmon Reeves McBroome, also 25, of Dallas.

A Navy spokesman said the two pilots were practicing close formations at 22,000 feet when one of the planes reportedly developed engine trouble, lurched out of control and struck the other.

Both pilots were stationed with an advanced training unit at Camp Pendleton in Corpus Christi. The wreckage of the planes crashed to earth in a field on the Kink Ranch about 17 miles north of this south Texas town.

Lt. Walker was a graduate of Ursinus College and was near the end of his training here.

EVANSTON, Ill. — Ara Parseghian, Northwestern University football coach, was given a new five-year contract.

BROOKLYN — Pee Wee Reese, captain and shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, became the first member of the National League champions to sign his 1957 contract for an estimated $39,000.

BAITMORE — Paper Tiger ($3,800) was declared the winner when Cedrus was disqualified in the feature at Pimlico.

PAWTUCKET, R. I. — Sandy Dandy ($7,500) scored by head over Nattie Son in the top event at Narragansett.

SPRINGERS BOW TO MANCHESTER

York Springs High School suffered a 78-28 setback at the hands of Manchester as the schools opened their basketball campaigns Tuesday evening at Manchester.

There was little question as to the ultimate outcome after the first period when Manchester piled up a 14-2 margin. At half time the Bobcats had a commanding 38-12 lead.

Schlottzauer netted 12 points to lead the Springers. Bill Fitzkee rammed 26 points through for the winners.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ploen had a direct hand in four touchdowns and directed the drive to another last Saturday as Iowa wound up its best season in 35 years with a 48-8 victory over Notre Dame.

When his busy afternoon's work was over the Hawkeye quarterback had scored on runs of 10 and 41 yards, passed 23 yards to Fred Harris for another, and set up a fourth with a 33-yard run to the Notre Dame one.

NO SENIORS ON BULLET QUINT FACING TEMPLE

Gettysburg College will open its 1956-57 basketball campaign with a rugged assignment Saturday night, meeting powerful Temple University in one game of a Philadelphia Palestra doubleheader. Pennsylvania tackles Rutgers in the other game.

Although Gettysburg, coached by Bob Davies, former Rochester Royal star, will have the tallest team in its history, the Bullets will be inexperienced with no seniors and only two juniors on the entire squad. Three sophomores and two juniors are scheduled to start Saturday night against the talented Owls.

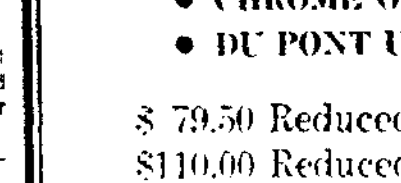

One Letterman
Davies has named team captain Bob Walsack, 6-1 junior from Newark, N. J., and Stan Traymore, a 6-1 junior from Fair Lawn, N. J., as his starting backcourt. Up front he'll have all sophomores, with 6-8 Tim Cousins, Ossining, N. Y., at center, and 6-6 Del Warfel, Lancaster, Pa., and 6-5 Frank Gizelecki, Schenectady, N. Y., at forwards.

The starting team will average 6-4. Walsack is the only letterman on the team. He started every game last year, scoring a total of 233 points for a 10.6 average.

Saturday's battle will be the first of a 26-game schedule for the Bullets as Davies starts his second year as head coach. Included on this season's card are rugged assignments against Georgetown, Lafayette, Navy, Muhlenberg, Hofstra and Wagner, plus a date to play in the Dec. 27-28 29 Hofstra Tournament on Long Island. Gettysburg met Temple twice last season, with the Owls winning both contests by 74-53 and 72-53 scores.

U.S. Boosts Gold Medal Total To 18 With Wins In 110-Meter Hurdles And O'Brien's Shot Put

By TED SMITH

MELBOURNE (AP) — Uncle Sam's powerful Olympic team boosted its gold medal total to 18 today with a sweep in the 110-meter hurdles behind surprising Lee Calhoun and Parry O'Brien's record shot put. But Russia's Vladimir Kouts matched Bobby Morrow's double by winning his second distance run.

Calhoun, a lanky North Carolina College student from Gary, Ind., whipped Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., the world record holder, in a blanket finish. Joel Shankle of Durham, N.C., grabbed the bronze medal for third. It was so close both Calhoun and Davis were clocked in 13.5 seconds, beating Harrison Dillard's 1952 Olympic record of 13.7.

Tops Record 6 Times

O'Brien did the expected by repeating his Helsinki triumph in the shot put. The young giant from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., shattered his own Olympic record with each of his six tosses and finally settled for a new mark of 60 feet 11 inches. Both Bill Nieder of Lawrence, Kan., with 59-7 1/2, and Jiri Skobla of Czechoslovakia with 57-10 1/2 topped the old standard while finishing second and third. So did Ken Bantum of New York, with 57-4 for fourth place.

The U.S. missed a potential sweep in the discus but the 1-2-3 finish in the hurdles was its fourth of the Olympics, duplicating America's efforts in the 200-meters, 400-meter hurdles and discus.

Russia enjoyed its greatest day with four gold medals for a total of 10 with Kouts' victory in the 5,000-meter, its first sweep in the 20-kilometer walk, Inessa Iauzen's winning effort in the women's javelin and a come-from-behind success in the modern pentathlon team competition.

U.S. Still Leading
In the days competition, Russia outscored the U.S. 64-44 but the unofficial point table still showed Uncle Sam out front of Russia, 206-214.

Another capacity crowd of 100,000 thrilled to a second Australian gold medal in women's track when Shirley Strickland de la Hunty skinned over the 80-meter hurdles in 10.7 seconds, breaking the accepted world record to repeat her Helsinki victory of four years ago. The three American girls had been eliminated in the heats.

Sweden snatched the other gold medal awarded on this brisk day when Lars Hall also repeated his 1952 triumph in the individual phase of the modern pentathlon. The teams and individuals finished the five-event competition with the 4,000-meter cross country run.

Quality In 400 Meters
The American pentathlon team was second to Russia after leading through the earlier events and George Lambert of Sioux City, Ia., was fifth among the individuals. Bill Andre of Montclair, N. J., was seventh and Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., 13th.

Lou Jones of New Rochelle, N. Y., America's best bet, sped home first in two heats of the 400-meter to qualify for tomorrow's semifinals and finals along with Charlie Jenkins of Villanova and Cambridge, Mass. However, the third American, Jim Lea of San Jose, Calif., was eliminated when he came in fifth in the third heat of the second round. Jones' times were 48.1 seconds and 47.4, about two seconds off the record.

The U.S. team had won 11 of the first 17 events in men's track and field with seven more to go. It has potential winners in the decathlon starting tomorrow, the 400-meters and the two hurdles Saturday. The steeplechase, 400-meters, opening of the decathlon and the first heats in both men's and women's swimming are important events on the Thursday schedule.

Loss Women's Events
America was blanked in points in the two women's events, javelin an 8800-meter hurdles, and in the 5,000-meter run and long walk for men.

Both members of the Zatopek family from Czechoslovakia, Emil and his wife, Dana, saw their Olympic record broken. Kants, winning from Great Britain's Gordon Pirie by a quarter of a lap, set a new mark of 13 minutes 39.6 seconds in the 5,000-meters as Pirie and Britain's Derek Ibbotson all bettered Zatopek's old standard of 14:06.6 set in 1952. MINK, MUSKRAT SEASONS OPEN, CLOSE TOGETHER

On Saturday Pennsylvania bear hunters will be winding up their season and other big game hunters will be going to camp or making final preparations for the December 3 deer season opener. Also, on Saturday, thousands of men and boys will go quietly about the business of getting traps for minks and muskrats. This is the first time in many years the mink and muskrat seasons have opened and closed on the same dates.

The mink population appears to remain steady in the state. The opening date set was reasoned to be the most logical to fairly accommodate both mink and muskrat trappers in both the upper and lower tier counties.

Population trends in muskrats continue to be favorably reported, so the Commission set the season comparable to that of last year. Considering all factors the season established should be most satisfactory for the entire state.

Low Prices For Pelts
Extremely low prices for the pelts of skunks and opossums have resulted in the increase of these animals to such an extent they constitute a definite menace to ground nesting game birds and animals. This motivated the Commission's decision to continue the removal of protection from both these furbearers for an indefinite period.

Mink and muskrat trappers may begin setting their traps at 7 a.m. Saturday. These traps must be lifted not later than noon the last day of the season, January 15, 1957. Traps must be tagged with metal name tags. A trapper may set any number of mink and muskrat traps, and the catch of these animals is unlimited.

The Game Commission congratulated the sportsmen of Pennsylvania on their exemplary conduct, as a group, during the forest small game hunting period in October. Reports received at the Commission office indicate that, generally, the conduct of hunters during the week was praiseworthy.

No Violation Increase
The low number of game law infractions in that period refutes the theory that opening the season on certain small game species while it was closed on others would result in increased violations of the game law.

For example, squirrel hunters in farm woodlots or in timber on the edge of agricultural land did not shoot, fingeers and rabbits prior to the October 27 opening on these species as was predicted by some hunters.

Hunters for turkeys, grouse and squirrels concentrated in the forested northern counties on October 20 and the remaining days prior to the general small game opener. This apparently relieved the gun pressure on farmlands in all but a few counties on October 27.

TWO KILLED IN MID-AIR CRASH
RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Marine lieutenant and another student pilot died yesterday in the mid-air collision of their Navy jet trainer planes near here.

The victims were Marine 2nd Lt. Kenneth E. Walker, 25, son of Mrs. Joseph E. Dempsey of Birchrunville, Chester County, Pa., and Naval aviation cadet Elmon Reeves McBroom, also 25, of Dallas.

A Navy spokesman said the two pilots were practicing close formations at 22,000 feet when one of the planes reportedly developed engine trouble, lurched out of control and struck the other.

Both pilots were stationed with an advanced training unit at Cranfield Field in Corpus Christi. The wreckage of the planes crashed to earth in a field on the King Ranch about 17 miles north of this south Texas town.

Lt. Walker was a graduate of Ursinus College and was near the end of his training here.

EVANSTON, Ill. — Ara Parseghian, Northwestern University football coach, was given a new five-year contract.

BROOKLYN — Pee Wee Reese, captain and shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, became the first member of the National League champions to sign his 1957 contract for an estimated $39,000.

BALTIMORE — Paper Tiger ($3.80) was declared the winner when Cedrus was disqualified in the feature at Pimlico.

PAWTUCKET, R. I. — Sandy Dandy ($7.60) scored by head over Native Son in the top event at Narragansett.

NEW ORLEANS — Steven S. ($6) captured the Monroe Purse at the Fair Grounds.

SAN MATEO, Calif. — Right Down ($10.80) outlasted Thibarian to win the $5,000 feature at Bay Meadows.

YONKERS, N. Y. — Dottie's Pick championed western pacing mare, romped to an easy 11-length victory over Adios Harry, Eastern standard bearer, in $25,000 winner-take-all match race.

MAKE COTTON BOWL CHOICE ON SATURDAY

DALLAS (AP) — Four teams — Navy, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Syracuse — will furnish the visiting team in the Cotton Bowl and the selection will be made Saturday.

President Bob Cullum said today that the field to provide Texas Christian's opponent in the Jan. 1 football game here had been narrowed to these and that Pittsburgh, which had been a contender, had been dropped because of a late game.

Pitt, with a 6-2-1 record, plays Miami Dec. 8 at Miami and that's too late for the Cotton Bowl to wait.

He would not indicate which of the four left in the running was the leading contender but, indicating that they all are being strongly considered, said communication lines would be established for a quick conference with all when games involving three of them were over.

Navy plays Army at Philadelphia Saturday while Tennessee clashes with Vanderbilt at Nashville and Georgia Tech plays Georgia at Athens Ga. Syracuse has already finished the season with a 7-1 record, its only loss being 14-7 to Pittsburgh.

An excellent source, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Malenkov, now a deputy Soviet premier, arrived in the Hungarian capital, Nov. 23.

This source said it was Malenkov who advised Kadar to change his lenient attitude and resort to harsh measures against still striking Hungarian workers.

Today's Talk

EN ROUTE
When we speak of traveling "En Route" it means that we are at no definite place, but are experiencing the thrill of many places and many interests. We are traveling in-between. Between our birth and death we are moving en route.
What different stories and interpretations come to all of us in life! Many pass through without seeing anything. They just look, without any thinking. Every day should fill us with wonder. No matter where we live, or go, something miraculous is going on. It may be no more than the molecules stirring in the bricks or stones of buildings, or the endless secrets that lie sleeping under our very footfalls!
Something is moving in the world all the time. And here I name a few of the watchers: Newton, Franklin, Lister, Pasteur, Galileo. Each knew that there are miracles going on in the world all the time, and so kept tuned that he might discover to the profit of all mankind, and such was the case with each of the ones I have named.
During our en route each day we cannot help but be inspired and enlightened by some of the simplest sights. This summer I stopped and looked for a long time upon a perfect spider's web. What a work of natural genius! How did it all happen? Each slender thread a contribution to a perfect form of art.
Within a few blocks of my office there are wonders about which no other city in the world can boast. Yet very few ever comment on any of them. Some people travel around the world but have accumulated very little knowledge to impart to others upon their return! Strange, isn't it? On a ship you will note people at writing desks, during the entire voyage, sending messages dated en route.
Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Retrospect".

Just Folks

SELF-RELIANT
The self-reliant man is he
Who never puts a task aside.
Until he has it finished, he
Is never wholly satisfied.
No letters long unanswered wait;
He answered all the day they came.
He'll work although the hour is late.
I wish that I could do the same.
No putter-off of tasks is he;
What is to do is quickly done.
His desk from last week's mail is free.
He gladly toils from sun to sun.
He seldom slips away to see
A football or a baseball game.
His office hours are eight to three.
I wish that mine could be the same.
An excellent committeeman;
On him his fellows can depend.
He'll always do the best he can
And be to all he knows a friend.
The banquet for his group he'll plan
And gladly take the praise or blame.
He keeps himself a busy man.
I wish that I could do the same.
But no! On him I often lean
And share the rising vote of thanks.
I seem to choose the life serene.
On lazy men nobody banks.
He decorates the banquet hall.
He does the various tasks I shrink
I criticize, but that is all.
I have no great desire to work.

Pennsylvania's Capitol Is 50 Years Old; Dedicated By Late President Theodore Roosevelt

The state Capitol of 11 million Pennsylvanians is 50 years old this year. Many changes have occurred both in the Main Capitol Building and the surrounding area since President Theodore Roosevelt spoke at the dedication ceremonies on October 4, 1906.

Several new buildings have been erected to house the ever-increasing offices of state government; some buildings are in the process of construction; and still others are in the planning stages.

The most extensive building program after completion of the Capitol Building followed the so-called Brunner Plan, named after the noted architect, Arnold W. Brunner. This plan resulted in construction of the South Office Building (1919); the North Office Building (1929); the Education Building (1931); and the Finance Building (1939).

Park Extension Program.
After World War II, the state launched another major construction program on land purchased to the north of Capitol Park by the Capitol Park Extension Commission. Under construction and soon to be ready for occupancy is the 11-story Health and Welfare Building, which will house a daily work population of 2,000 employees. This is the first building to be constructed on land acquired by the Capitol Park Extension Commission. The final cost will be in the neighborhood of $8,000,000.

Other projects to be undertaken as part of the Capitol Park Extension program include a building for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Revenue; an underground garage in the area between the Finance Building and the new Health and Welfare Building; and a parking lot between Third and East Streets. The new parking facilities are expected to increase parking capacity from 1,300 to 2,900 automobiles. These projects have the approval of the General Assembly and of the General State Authority, which will finance the construction by sale of bonds.

Although not strictly within the Capitol Park Extension area, the first building to be completed since World War II was the mammoth 18-story Labor and Industry Building. This building was accepted by Governor George M. Leader for the Commonwealth last May. Total cost was approximately $10,000,000.

Long-Range Plans
The major concern of state officials and architects responsible for future building plans in the Capitol area is to erect buildings which will be both functional and attractive.

Although the need for new buildings is fully recognized, it is considered equally important to keep the existing buildings in good condition. The first large-scale modernization program in the Capitol's 50-year history was completed recently at a total cost of $3,000,000 for new plumbing, air conditioning, wiring, painting, and other improvements.

An important consideration in any future plans for expansion is the need for acquiring land. The Department of Property and Supplies is in charge of land buying, which is an expensive proposition in the Capitol Hill area. The 1955-56 session of the General Assembly appropriated $590,000 for the purchase of additional land.

Cost Of Constructing Capitol
The 50-year-old Main Capitol Building, situated on an 80-acre tract of land known as Capitol Hill, is the dominant structure in a cluster of state office buildings. The cost of constructing the Capitol was approximately $10,000,000. To duplicate the present structure at today's prices, however, contractors estimate that it would cost at least $30,000,000, or three times the original amount. Designed in the classic style adapted from the architecture of the Italian Renaissance, the Capitol is 520 feet long, 254 feet wide through the center, and 212 feet wide through each of its side wings. The building is 100 feet high at most points, but the dome towers to a height of 222 feet.

Surmounting the dome is a bronze and gilded statue of "Miss Penn." modeled by R. Hinton Perry. This figure, symbolizing the Commonwealth, measures 14 and one-half feet in height. She is holding aloft a garlanded wreath. The Capitol dome consists of two domes or shells — an inner dome and an outer dome — with room between the two domes for workmen to move freely. It weighs 52 million pounds, or 26 thousand tons. To support this tremendous weight, there are four piers or pillars, which are 29 feet, three inches in diameter at the base and taper to a diameter of 12 feet, six inches. The four piers are constructed of bricks — seven million in all — reinforced with iron columns and bars. An additional three million bricks are contained in the superstructure.

The tremendous downward pressure on these piers is estimated at 7,000 pounds per square foot. Although the dome is supported entirely by these four piers, the rest of the Capitol is structurally independent of them. If the rest of the Capitol Building were entirely removed, the dome would remain supported atop the four piers which are sunk seven feet deep into a natural bed of slate-like shale.

The People's Portal
At the central entrance to the Main Capitol are huge bronze doors, richly decorated with sculptured reliefs. These doors were designed by Joseph M. Huston, the architect for the building; modeled by Otto Jahn; and cast by the Henry Bonnard Bronze Company. On the sides of the doors, a series of sculptured heads portrays the men responsible for the building of the Capitol. This main entrance is known as the People's Portal because it is never shut to the people of the Commonwealth except for a brief period during inauguration ceremonies for a new Governor.

The bronze leaves on the main doors each weigh one ton, but they are so delicately adjusted that little more than the pressure of a finger is sufficient to slide them back and forth. Each leaf was cast as a single unit rather than in sections, a procedure which requires great skill on the part of the craftsman.
The process used is known technically as "cire perdue," or lost wax. A craftsman employing this method must put full faith in a successful first casting. To achieve fine detail, a wax mold is used. When hot metal is poured into the mold, the wax melts; and if an imperfection develops, not only is the casting of no value, but the original design or wax mold is destroyed and the arduous task of modeling must be redone.

Barnard Groups Of Statuary
Another point of interest at the Capitol entrance is the Barnard groups of statuary, which flank the sides of the central entrance facing west. These two heroic groups of statuary in Italian Carrara marble were executed by George Grey Barnard, a Pennsylvania-born sculptor. To the right, facing the entrance, is a group of men and women in attitudes representing the spiritual burdens carried by mankind. The group to the left symbolizes humanity's spiritual advancement through the inspiration of work and brotherhood.

Among the outstanding features of the Capitol interior are the great rounda below the dome, the Senate Chamber, the House of Representatives Chamber, the Appellate Court Room, the Governor's Suite, and the lieutenant governor's rooms. Throughout the Capitol, the walls are enriched by paintings by several notable Pennsylvania artists. These include W. B. Van Ingen, Edwin Austin Abbey, and Violet Oakley.
The richly-colored pavements throughout the rounda and both main corridors is interspersed with more than 400 tile mosaics designed and executed by Henry C. Mercer, of Doylestown. These mosaics represent animals, birds and flowers, as well as industries, occupations and ways of travel common throughout Pennsylvania.
The Capitol became the Capital of Pennsylvania in October, 1812, as the result of legislation passed in 1810. Two fireproof buildings were constructed to hold the books and records of state officials, and the Dauphin County Courthouse was renovated to accommodate the two Houses of the General Assembly. In 1819, work began on the first State Capitol at Harrisburg. This building was completed and dedicated on January 2, 1822.
1897 Fire Destroys Capitol
The old Capitol Building burned on Tuesday, February 2, 1897, on the eve of the Spanish-American

War. The fire started under the floor of the lieutenant governor's office at one o'clock in the afternoon. The Senate had recessed for lunch, but the House of Representatives was still in session. The fire spread so rapidly that flames swept through the doors of the House as it was adjourning, but all of the representatives managed to escape from the building unharmed.

The Grace Methodist Episcopal Church in State Street was made available to the Legislature immediately, and it was there that sessions were conducted until a new building was completed.

The Legislature appropriated $550,000 for construction of a new Capitol Building, which was completed in 1899. The new building resembled a large square brick warehouse, and was universally termed an architectural monstrosity. In describing the building, Governor Daniel H. Hastings said in part, "It is made of common brick, embedded in cheap mortar, looks like a hastily erected factory building, and is repulsive to the eye."

The Legislature of 1899 abolished the old Capitol Commission, created a new body, and appropriated $4,000,000 for the construction of a building in keeping with the dignity of a great State. The new building's cornerstone was laid on May 5, 1904, and Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker dedicated the building on October 4, 1906. President Theodore Roosevelt was the main speaker at the dedication ceremonies. The "in-between" Capitol Building became the brick center core of the new structure, with its imposing exterior of Vermont granite.

The architect for the present 475-room building was Joseph M. Huston, of Philadelphia, who was commissioned to his task in 1902.

Growth Of Capitol Hill
Today, on an 80-acre plot in the heart of Harrisburg stand the buildings which comprise Capitol Hill. The original buildings were located on land given to the Commonwealth in the form of two grants by John Harris, founder of Harrisburg, and William Maclay, his son-in-law and one of the first United States Senators from Pennsylvania. The area was increased in 1873 to 15 acres, and between 1912 and 1919 the State acquired 30 more acres east from the Capitol Building to the Pennsylvania Railroad. In 1916 Arnold W. Brunner was commissioned to formulate plans for the future development of the area. In 1943 the General Assembly created the Capitol Park Extension Commission to examine and approve plans for acquiring land to the north of the present Capitol group.

The State Museum Building located to the south of the main Capitol Building is the oldest building in the Capitol group. Designed by the well-known architect, James H. Windrim, it was built in 1893-94 and was intended to be, and was for a time, the Governor's Office, State Library, and Executive Office Building. The State Museum and the offices of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission are presently located in this building. One of the outstanding features of the interior is the famous painting of the Battle of Gettysburg by the noted Pennsylvania artist, Peter Rohrer. One of the largest mural paintings in the world, it occupies the entire rear wall of the second floor.

The Brunner Plan
The first building of the four constructed under the Brunner Plan was the South Office Building (Number 1), which was authorized in 1919 and constructed at a total cost of $3,250,000. Murals by Edward Trumbull on the main floor of this seven-story building are an outstanding feature of the interior. This structure is almost exactly balanced by the North Office Building (Number 2), which was completed and occupied in 1929 at a cost of $3,000,000.

The South Office Building (Number 2), commonly referred to as the Education Building, was authorized in 1929 and completed in 1931. In addition to office space, this building contains the famous Forum, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,333. The State Library and the Law Library also are located in this building. The architects were William Gehron and Sidney Ross, and the cost was $5,500,000.

The North Office Building (Number 2), known as the Finance Building, was completed in 1939 at a total cost of $4,825,000. The General State Authority financed construction of this building, and Gehron and Ross were the architects.

Among the artistic features of these buildings are sculptures in bronze by Carl P. Jennewein, Harry Kreis, Lee Lawrie, and Carl Milles. Vincent Maraghiotti and Eugene Savage designed the ceiling murals in the Education and Finance buildings.

Construction Outside Area
The Northwest Office Building, which houses the offices of the Liquor Control Board, was first occupied in 1940. Designed by Verus T. Rutter, of Philadelphia, this seven-story building lies outside the Capitol Hill area proper but is within easy walking distance. It was constructed at a cost of $1,200,000 which was partially paid for by a grant of $54,000 provided by the Federal government. The Commonwealth provided the balance from Liquor Control Board profits.

Situated still further from the Capitol Hill group is the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building, which was dedicated by Governor John S. Fisher in 1931. Constructed at a cost of $1,440,000, the building contains 425,000 square feet of floor space and covers a 13-acre area. The arena, which was dedicated in 1932, cost an additional $1,250,000. The building is used for the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show and more recently has been utilized for large political gatherings and for other public events.

Plans For The Future
Discussions have been held concerning the construction of a new museum and archives building, which has been designated the "William Penn Memorial." No definite plans have been made for this project, however. Another project under consideration would involve demolition of the temporary buildings directly behind the Capitol and development of a "People's Court" in that area. This development, which is part of the Brunner Plan, would provide much needed space for large public gatherings, such as inauguration ceremonies.

Another new development is the construction of state office buildings outside the Capital City. Under construction is a 18-story office building in Pittsburgh, which will cost approximately $6,500,000. Another large office building is planned for Philadelphia. These buildings will house the many state offices now scattered in rented buildings throughout both cities.

It is impossible to say exactly what the future holds in store for the development of the Capitol Hill area, but it is safe to assume that favorable action by the General Assembly will result in a well-planned grouping of attractive buildings, which should be a source of pride to all Pennsylvanians.

Second Hearing On New School Site

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Charles Long, chairman of a special committee investigating a controversy over location of a new joint school, said his group would hold a second hearing in Watsonstown "soon."

Long reported that a Watsonstown citizens committee was not represented at a hearing Nov. 15 in that community. The hearing was aimed at settling a dispute over location of the Warrior Run school.

The second hearing has been called, Long said, to enable the citizens group, one of the protesters against construction of the school on a site selected by area school officials, to state its case.

Long said he has not set a date for the hearing pending contact with the group's counsel.

LEASE LAND IN THREE AREAS FOR GAS STORAGE

HARRISBURG (P)—The commonwealth has leased state land in parts of three central Pennsylvania counties for use in underground storage of natural gas by a Pittsburgh firm.

Gov. Leader said yesterday the land, mostly in Clinton County, with a smaller section in Potter and still less in Cameron counties, was leased to the New York State Natural Gas Corp., Pittsburgh, at a rate of $80,000 a year.

Much of the land involved in the lease is operated by the State Forests and Waters Department.

The land is located in the Leidy and Greenlick gas fields.

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, forests and waters secretary, said the gas will be stored 5,000 feet below the ground in sands from which gas was originally extracted.

Won't Sacrifice Land

"There will be no sacrifice of state forest land that area will remain open to normal public use," Goddard said.

"In addition," he added, "the commonwealth will receive an $80,000 yearly income and over 1 million dollars in royalties for gas currently being produced."

Leader pointed out that in addition to obliging the state a "considerable income" there will be a "saving to natural gas consumers because areas of this type save the expense of laying additional pipe lines from southwestern United States to meet the increasing demand for this fuel."

The governor said the gas company expects to invest 25 million dollars in converting the facility from production to storage.

Dr. Goddard said that Pennsylvania has 57 such gas storage facilities in operation. This he said is more than any other state.

However, the new lease will be the first one in which state-owned land is involved.

Head Of Chattanooga Schools Couple News Is New Education Commissioner IN TANEYTOWN

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP)—President Eisenhower today picked Dr. Lawrence G. Dierthick, now superintendent of schools at Chattanooga, Tenn., to be U. S. commissioner of education.

At the same time, the President appointed Jack Z. Anderson, former member of Congress and now an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to serve as a White House liaison man with Congress. He will specialize in tending to farm legislation, as he has in the agriculture department.

In the education post, Dierthick, who will be 51 Dec. 23, succeeds Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, brother of Alty, Gen. Herbert Brownell. The job has been vacant since Sept. 1, when Samuel Brownell resigned to become superintendent of schools at Detroit. It pays $14,800 a year.

Recess Appointment

The President's choice of Dierthick, announced at his vacation headquarters here, is a recess appointment subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January.

The selection of Anderson as a White House liaison man with Congress is an outright Presidential appointment which does not require Senate confirmation.

Dierthick, a native of Hazel Green, Ky., is a former principal of the City-County School at Clarksville, Tenn., and he was superintendent of schools at Nashville, Tenn., from 1939 to 1952.

Former Congressman

He has been school superintendent at Chattanooga since 1942. Anderson is a former Republican member of Congress from California. He served in the House from 1939 through 1952. He will work with retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, who heads up the Presidential staff dealing with Congress.

The position Anderson fills has been vacant since Fred A. Spaulson was named secretary of the interior earlier this year.

Golf And Work

Selection of Dierthick and Anderson was announced as Eisenhower started the second full day of a golf-and-work vacation. The President flew here Monday afternoon for up to two weeks of relaxation while all happenings in the nation were watched with a keen eye on the national situation.

U. S. headquarters, announced yesterday that Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower will leave for Chattanooga Sunday, Dec. 3, for a few hours en route to Washington from Key West, Fla., where he has been recuperating from an operation for enlarged prostate.

To Heal Ill

Along with announcement that he will be in Chattanooga, the President moved to heal the rift with Great Britain and France over the Suez Canal.

A White House statement yesterday said U. S. differences with the two chief western allies "in no way should be construed as a weakening or disruption of the great bond that have so long joined our nation with the United Kingdom and the Republic of France and our other allies in the Atlantic community, assuring that peace, justice and freedom shall prevail."

He has held various positions in the Union Carbide organization including that of superintendent of the Canadian Resins and Chemicals Limited plant at Shawinigan Falls, P. Q. Canada, and assistant superintendent, Texas City plant, of Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company. He moved to New York in 1952 to fill the post of works manager for Bakelite Company.

Mr. Pitzer received the B.S. degree in Chemistry in 1932 and the M.S. degree in 1933 from Gettysburg College. He was born in Littlestown and attended public schools in Gettysburg. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Pitzer.

Head Of Chattanooga Schools Is New Education Commissioner

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today picked Dr. Lawrence Gridley Derthick, now superintendent of schools at Chattanooga, Tenn., to be U. S. commissioner of education.

At the same time, the President appointed Jack Z. Anderson, former member of Congress and now an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to serve as a White House liaison man with Congress. He will specialize in tending to farm legislation, as he has in the agriculture department.

In the education post, Derthick, who will be 51 Dec. 23, succeeds Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, brother of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell. The job has been vacant since Sept. 1, when Samuel Brownell resigned to become superintendent of schools at Detroit. It pays $14,800 a year.

Recess Appointment
The President's choice of Derthick, announced at his vacation headquarters here, is a recess appointment subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January.

The selection of Anderson as a White House liaison man with Congress is an outright Presidential appointment which does not require Senate confirmation.

Derthick, a native of Hazel Green, Ky., is a former principal of the City-County School at Clarksville, Tenn., and he was superintendent of schools at Nashville, Tenn., from 1933 to 1952.

Former Congressman

He has been school superintendent at Chattanooga since 1942. Anderson is a former Republican member of Congress from California. He served in the House from 1939 through 1952. He will work with retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, who heads up the Presidential staff dealing with Congress.

The position Anderson fills has been vacant since Fred A. Seaton was named secretary of the interior earlier this year.

Golf And Work
Selection of Derthick and Anderson was announced as Eisenhower started the second full day of a golf-and-work vacation. The President flew here Monday afternoon for up to two weeks of relaxation while still keeping a watchful eye on the tense international situation.

His headquarters announced yesterday that Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will review that picture at a conference Sunday. Dulles will stop at Augusta for a few hours en route to Washington from Key West, Fla., where he has been recuperating from an operation for intestinal cancer.

To Heal Rift
Along with announcement of that engagement, the President moved to heal the rift with Great Britain and France over the Suez crisis.

A White House statement yesterday said U.S. differences with its two chief western allies "in no way should be construed as a weakening or disruption of the great bonds that have so long joined our nation with the United Kingdom and the Republic of France and our other allies in assuring that peace, justice and freedom shall prevail."

The bride wore a beige lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Robert McNair, Taneytown, her attendant, wore a winter white dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. McNair was best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will live in Chicago, Ill. The bridegroom is stationed at the Chamite Air Force Base, Ill. Mrs. Stonestier was employed at the Carroll Shoe Company, Littlestown, before her wedding. Both attended Taneytown High School.

Out-of-town guests were from New Cumberland, Pa., Gettysburg, Littlestown, Bonneauville and Baltimore.

LEASE LAND IN THREE AREAS FOR GAS STORAGE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The commonwealth has leased state land in parts of three central Pennsylvania counties for use in underground storage of natural gas by a Pittsburgh firm.

Gov. Leader said yesterday the land, mostly in Clinton County, with a smaller section in Potter and still less in Catoctin counties, was leased to the New York State Natural Gas Corp., Pittsburgh, at a rate of $80,000 a year.

Much of the land involved in the lease is operated by the State Forests and Waters Department.

The land is located in the Leidy and Greenlick gas fields.

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, forests and waters secretary, said the gas will be stored 5,000 feet below the ground in sands from which gas was originally extracted.

Won't Sacrifice Land

"There will be no sacrifice of state forest land that area will remain open to normal public use," Goddard said.

"In addition," he added, "the commonwealth will receive an $80,000 yearly income and over 1 million dollars in royalties for gas currently being produced."

Leader pointed out that in addition to obliging the state a "considerable income" there will be a "saving to natural gas consumers because areas of this type save the expense of laying additional pipe lines from southwestern United States to meet the increasing demand for this fuel."

The governor said the gas company expects to invest 25 million dollars in converting the facility from production to storage.

Dr. Goddard said that Pennsylvania has 57 such gas storage facilities in operation. This he said is more than any other state.

However, the new lease will be the first one in which state-owned land is involved.

Gov. Leader named Neyhart yesterday in announcing plans for the group to "serve as a great force in acting as an advisory group."

The governor said he would name the other committee members by the end of the week.

Neyhart now is head of Penn State's Institute of Public Safety. Leader promised the group would "act as a great educational force and we want to take much stronger action with the educational aspects of safety right now."

The new organization will replace one that has been defunct for three years.

The council will study numerous road problems, including the question of whether motorists should be re-examined periodically to determine whether they are still qualified to operate vehicles on public roads.

EXPANSION IN STEEL INDUSTRY MAY BE NEEDED

By L. A. BROPHY
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—A 50 per cent expansion of steel making capacity in the next 15 years will be necessary if present economic growth continues, Arthur B. Homer, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., said Tuesday.

He made the statement in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America.

This expansion would mean a total annual output of 200 million tons, 70 million more ingot tons than now.

Will higher steel prices be necessary to provide for such a tremendous expansion?

Nothing Drastic

Homer said "the necessary price adjustments for this purpose need not be drastic."

He said he hopes for a policy of moderation as to prices. "It is not logical to expect that our customers, and in consequence the rest of the economy, should be saddled with the whole financial burden of a necessary expansion," he declared.

Expansion Going On

Expansion in the industry is going on now, he said, at a rate of about five million ingot tons annually through 1958. He estimated the industry will need to spend well over five billion dollars within the next five years to create some 20 million tons of new capacity.

The oil and natural gas securities committee of the association reported to the convention that its study showed it will be 1959 or 1960 as the earliest likely dates for the generation of private atomic power. It anticipated no serious threat to the oil and natural gas industry from atomic energy as a source of power.

Assuming that all incremental large power stations built after 1960 were to use atomic energy, the report estimated the loss to the oil industry would amount by 1975 to 170,000 barrels daily, or 1.3 per cent of the anticipated domestic demand.

Loss Foreseen

To the natural gas industry, the loss in 1975 under the same conditions was foreseen as 400 million cubic feet, or 2.7 per cent of the anticipated demand.

Continued profitable days for the coal industry were predicted in a report of the association's special industrial securities committee on the bituminous coal industry.

Coal, said the report, now produces more electric energy than at any previous time in the last decade, more than all other energy sources combined.

The contemplated expansion of the steel industry in the next five years should create additional demand for 15 to 18 million tons of coal, the report said.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Officials investigated today the case of Marine Pfc. Billy M. Crawford, 20, of Eldorado, Ark., who shot himself in the head while on guard duty at the naval air station here on Monday.

A Marine official said that when he later went to Crawford's cottage he found two bodies in bed. They were identified as Marine Pfc. Richard R. Phillip, 21, of Eagles Mere, Pa.; and Mrs. Mary H. Morrissey, 23, wife of J. W. Morrissey, a Navy airman stationed in Florida.

They had been riddled by pistol slugs.

HOLD ACT IS SPEECH THREAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce protested Tuesday that "the federal lobbying act threatens the constitutional right of free speech."

The chamber voiced this contention in a statement accompanying testimony prepared by William Barton, its general counsel, for a special Senate committee investigating lobbying and political activities.

The committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), also called for testimony from Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman, and officials of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Barton and Milton A. Smith, the Chamber of Commerce assistant general counsel, argued in their prepared testimony that the lobbying law needs a thorough revision.

The law requires persons engaged in the business of seeking to influence legislation to register with Congress and to file periodic reports of their income and expenditures.

Barton and Smith said it is so

WILL MOVE U. N. FORCE FROM ITS CROWDED CAMP

CAIRO (AP)—The commander of the U.N. police force made plans Tuesday to shift his headquarters close to the cease-fire line and to move his troops from their overcrowded camp in the Suez Canal zone.

But Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U.N. Emergency Force, said he had no immediate plans to move any more troops into Port Said, seat of the British-French occupation of the northern 27 miles of the Suez Canal zone.

The Royal Canadian Air Force began ferrying U.N. men from Italy Tuesday, taking over the job from chartered planes of Swisair.

The British in Port Said announced that their clearing operations in the northern portion of the Suez Canal had freed the first of 13 ships trapped in the waterway.

Deny Expulsion

The Egyptian government denied a British Foreign Office report that 13,000 British nationals and 5,000 holders of French passports would be expelled from Egypt.

The British and French nationals had been "put under restricted residence for a time" to safeguard them from angry Egyptians, and that they were "being allowed to leave Egypt if they wish

They said their own organization believes it should be exempt from terms of the lobbying act, but the law is so ambiguous that the chamber registers some of its officials.

Japan Diet Okays Peace With Russia

TOKYO (AP)—The lower house of Japan's Diet unanimously approved the new World War II peace accord with Russia Tuesday in a turbulent session marked by a Rightist demonstration.

All 365 representatives present voted for the four measures involved. There were 97 absences.

The agreements now go to the upper chamber for a vote expected by Dec. 3. The pacts include a joint declaration ending the 11-year technical state of war between Japan and the Soviet Union, a fishing agreement, a sea rescue pact, and a trade and navigation protocol.

In the major disturbance, a man rose in the visitors' gallery, shouted he was opposed to the pacts, and scattered anti-Soviet handbills over the heads of Diet members. The session had to be recessed to restore order.

EXPANSION IN STEEL INDUSTRY MAY BE NEEDED

By L. A. BROPHY
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—A 50 per cent expansion of steel making capacity in the next 15 years will be necessary if present economic growth continues, Arthur B. Homer, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., said Tuesday.

He made the statement in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America.

This expansion would mean a total annual output of 200 million tons, 70 million more ingot tons than now.

Will higher steel prices be necessary to provide for such a tremendous expansion?

Nothing Drastic

Homer said "the necessary price adjustments for this purpose need not be drastic."

He said he hoped for a policy of moderation as to prices "It is not logical to expect that our customers, and in consequence the rest of the economy, should be saddled with the whole financial burden of a necessary expansion," he declared.

There is, however, a big cash problem involved in building future steel capacity, he said. He maintained the issue would be met through "higher earnings, financial borrowing, stabilized wage costs, accelerated amortization and more realistic pricing."

Homer said the steel industry is "conscious of its duty" to combat inflationary pressures. "We intend to do everything possible to make our contribution through more efficient operation and thereby offset as much as possible the growing employment costs," he added.

Expansion Going On
Expansion in the industry is going on now, he said, at a rate of about five million ingot tons annually through 1958. He estimated the industry will need to spend well over five billion dollars within the next five years to create some 20 million tons of new capacity.

The oil and natural gas securities committee of the association reported to the convention that its study showed it will be 1959 or 1960 as the earliest likely date for the generation of private atomic power. It anticipated no serious threat in the relatively near future to the oil and natural gas industry from atomic energy as a source of power.

Assuming that all incremental large power stations built after 1960 were to use atomic energy, the report estimated the loss to the oil industry would amount by 1975 to 170,000 barrels daily, or 1.3 per cent of the anticipated domestic demand.

Loss Foreseen
To the natural gas industry, the loss in 1975 under the same conditions was foreseen as 400 million cubic feet, or 2.7 per cent of the anticipated demand.

Continued profitable days for the coal industry were predicted in a report of the association's special industrial securities committee on the bituminous coal industry.

Coal, said the report, now produces more electric energy than at any previous time in the last decade, more than all other energy sources combined.

The contemplated expansion of the steel industry in the next five years should create additional demand for 15 to 18 million tons of coal, the report said.

PA. WOMAN KILLED
SALEM, Ohio (AP)—A Pennsylvania woman was killed Tuesday when a pickup truck and a tractor-trailer outfit collided on U. S. 30 five miles east of Minerva.

She was identified by the state highway patrol as Mrs. Ruth White, about 50, of Houston, Pa., a passenger in the pickup truck. Her husband, Roy, driver of the truck, was reported in poor condition at Salem Central Clinic.

Mrs. White was thrown from the truck by the impact, the patrol reported.

Probe Suicide And 2 Texas Slayings

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Officials investigated today the case of Marine Pfc. Billy M. Crawford, 29, of Eldorado, Ark., who shot himself in the head while on guard duty at the naval air station here on Monday.

A Marine official said that when he later went to Crawford's cottage he found two bodies in bed. They were identified as Marine Pfc. Richard R. Phillip, 21, of Eagles Mere, Pa.; and Mrs. Mary H. Morrissey, 23, wife of J. W. Morrissey, a Navy airman stationed in Florida.

They had been riddled by pistol slugs.

HOLD ACT IS SPEECH THREAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce protested Tuesday that "the federal lobbying act threatens the constitutional right of free speech."

The chamber voiced this contention in a statement accompanying testimony prepared by William Barton, its general counsel, for a special Senate committee investigating lobbying and political activities.

The committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), also called for testimony from Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman, and officials of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Barton and Milton A. Smith, the Chamber of Commerce assistant general counsel, argued in their prepared testimony that the lobbying law needs a thorough revision.

The law requires persons engaged in the business of seeking to influence legislation to register with Congress and to file periodic reports of their income and expenditures.

Barton and Smith said it is so

WILL MOVE U. N. FORCE FROM ITS CROWDED CAMP

CATRO (AP)—The commander of the U.N. police force made plans Tuesday to shift his headquarters close to the cease-fire line and to move his troops from their overcrowded camp in the Suez Canal zone.

But Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U.N. Emergency Force, said he had no immediate plans to move any more troops into Port Said, seat of the British-French occupation of the northern 27 miles of the Suez Canal zone.

The Royal Canadian Air Force began ferrying U.N. men from Italy Tuesday, taking over the job from chartered planes of Swissair.

The British in Port Said announced that their clearing operations in the northern portion of the Suez Canal had freed the first of 13 ships trapped in the waterway.

Deny Expulsion
The Egyptian government denied a British Foreign Office report that 13,000 British nationals and 5,000 holders of French passports would be expelled from Egypt. The British and French nationals had been "put under restricted residence for a time" to safeguard them from angry Egyptians, and that they were "being allowed to leave Egypt if they wish."

vaguely worded that many persons could find themselves subject to prosecution for unintended violations.

They said their own organization believes it should be exempt from terms of the lobbying act, but the law is so ambiguous that the chamber registers some of its officials.

But Israel tightened its hold on Gaza by naming a mayor and a seven-member city council for Gaza City to replace the Egyptian-appointed administration.

Japan Diet Okays Peace With Russia

TOKYO (AP)—The lower house of Japan's Diet unanimously approved the new World War II peace accord with Russia Tuesday in a turbulent session marked by a Rightist demonstration.

All 365 representatives present voted for the four measures involved. There were 97 absences.

The agreements now go to the upper chamber for a vote expected by Dec. 3. The pacts include a joint declaration ending the 11-year technical state of war between Japan and the Soviet Union, a fishing agreement, a sea rescue pact, and a trade and navigation protocol.

In the major disturbance, a man rose in the visitors' gallery, shouted he was opposed to the pacts, and scattered anti-Soviet handbills over the heads of Diet members. The session had to be recessed to restore order.

Gen. Burns refused to discuss any plans for deploying U.N. troops into the Sinai Peninsula, seized by Israel. He said the force was not yet adequate for that and questions concerning such a move were being discussed at U.N. headquarters in New York.

RED HOPES TO FREE YANKEES

ROME (AP)—Communist China's President Mao Tse-tung was quoted Tuesday as expressing the hope that negotiations with the United States for the release of 10 Americans still held in Red China's prisons can be "favorably concluded."

The weekly Tempo Revista published an interview between Mao and Curzio Malaparte, well-known Italian novelist and newspaperman, made in Peiping earlier this month.

Malaparte quoted Mao as saying, after an earlier reference to Roman Catholic priests and missionaries: "Also there are many American prisoners in the jails of China. On these last our ambassador and the ambassador of the United States in Bern are discussing them in Geneva. Nor can I tell you what will be the result of these negotiations, since they are complicated and delicate. I hope, in any event, that it will be possible to reach a favorable conclusion."

One of Mao's top deputies also talked optimistically on Monday about the chances of success of the Geneva talks in an interview with American newsmen in Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

Premier Chou En-lai said antagonism between Washington and Peiping has diminished and that "now is the time to establish better relations." Chou is on a goodwill tour through seven Asian countries.

Finally released near her home an hour later. The dog had been routed by Mrs. Metzger's attacker.

Larsen Beat Only Two Teams In 1954

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Larsen, who pitched the only perfect game in World Series history, had a tough time of it two years ago. While with Baltimore he had a 3-21 record, beating only the Yankees twice and Cleveland once.

What the Yankees liked about him was his hitting. His 4.37 earned run record, his 202 innings and his 12 complete games in 28 starts. In 1956, Larsen completed 6 out of 20 starts for the Yankees. In 1955, his first year with the Yankees, he completed 5 of 13 starts.

4 REPORTERS ARE INDICTED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four New York newspapermen have voiced hope the courts will uphold their contention that the freedom of speech guarantee justifies their refusal to answer senatorial questions about communism.

The four were among six persons indicted by a federal grand jury on Monday on contempt of Congress charges growing out of appearances before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.).

None of the six cited the 5th Amendment's protection against possible self-incrimination, but based their refusals to answer some questions on the freedom of speech and freedom of press guarantees in the 1st Amendment.

DRAFT MEASURE FOR ASSEMBLY ON HOME RULE

HARRISBURG (AP) — A new approach to an old legislative hot potato—home rule for third class cities—is being drafted for submission to the 1957 General Assembly.

For the sixth consecutive session a bill will be offered to carry out the intent of a constitutional amendment approved by the voters 34 years ago.

But for the first time, Sen. Stevenson (R-Clinton) says, the legislation will be in the form of two different proposed city charters. One would provide for the strong mayor-council type government and the other for the city manager-council form. All 47 third class cities in Pennsylvania now operate under charters calling for the "weak mayor-council" type of operation.

The 1922 constitutional amendment authorized the Legislature to enact enabling legislation permitting third class cities to write and adopt their own charters, thus granting "home rule." Only in the case of Philadelphia, the state's only first class city, has this been carried out.

Up To Cities
In the past, however, all the proposed legislation simply au-

authorized the creation of home rule charters leaving their drafting entirely up to the individual cities. "These cities do not have people who know enough about third class city law to write such charters and it is a very costly job," Stevenson said in explaining why the Senate Local Government Committee he headed in the last Legislature failed to act on a House-approved home rule charter bill.

The bill, approved by the exact 100 votes necessary to clear the House, would have authorized third class cities to frame, adopt and amend their own charters with the approval of a majority of voters casting a ballot on the question.

City Manager Form
It would have permitted the city manager form but a provision in the original draft making city managers mandatory was eliminated.

The Local Government Commission, also headed by Stevenson, was directed to prepare several sample charters to be "studied or used by the various city charter commissions in the preparation of charters."

Stevenson declined to say what future he thought the new proposals face.

"I wouldn't know, it's so hard there have been so many misunderstandings in the past years," he said.

The commission will hold a panel session on the question next week at the annual convention of the League of Cities in Philadelphia.

SEES MILLION JOBS NEW U.S. ROAD PROGRAM

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) said Tuesday the new federal highway program will create almost one million new jobs for American workers.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the 42nd annual convention of the National Assn. of State Highway Officials, Martin, a member and former chairman of the Senate's Public Works Committee, declared: "It has been estimated that the highway program will create at least 300,000 new jobs on direct highway construction alone and twice as many in related industries."

The senior Pennsylvania senator said "many thousands" of workers will be needed to produce steel, cement, asphalt, stone, sand and gravel under the federal program. "The production of road building machinery and equipment will have to be greatly expanded," he added.

Under the new highway program the federal government contributes 90 per cent toward the cost of a limited access divided highway on the interstate system and the states 10 per cent.

Martin was one of two major speakers slated to address the morning session of the convention which association president Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer for the Missouri Highway Department described as "an exchange of ideas on how to do highway work."

The other speaker, John A. Volpe, highway administrator for the U. S. Commerce Department, also reviewed the federal program in his prepared speech.

Martin, in his address, said that each billion dollars worth of new highway means 16 million barrels of cement, 75 million tons of sand and gravel, 510,000 tons of steel, 100,000 tons of asphalt and a 500 million dollar outlay in new construction equipment.

LaMarca testified in his own defense Tuesday, trying to establish that he was insane last July 4 when he kidnapped little Peter Weinberger. His life may hang on his testimony.

LaMarca's testimony in the 22-day-old kidnapping trial came after Judge Mario Pitlori denied the usual midtrial defense motion to dismiss the charges. LaMarca is on trial for his life, charged with first-degree murder and kidnapping. He is pleading insanity.

The 32-day-old Westbury, N.Y., baby was abandoned after his kidnapping to die face down of suffocation in a Long Island honey-suckle thicket.

In arguing for a dismissal the defense claimed the state failed to prove that the tiny body found 51 days after the kidnapping was actually Peter's.

This argument sent the baby's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, 32, rushing from the crowded courtroom in tears.

2 MORE ADMIT MORALS CHARGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former model agency operator Bernard Jacobs, said by police to be a key figure in the operation of an alleged vice ring, has pleaded guilty to 13 morals offenses and been found guilty of 4 others.

Jacobs and another defendant in the ring, Henry Bogdanoff, 34, a center city camera shop owner, were tried separately yesterday in Quarter Sessions Court. Bogdanoff pleaded guilty to 5 counts, 3 charging morals offenses, 1 charging that he caused publication of obscene pictures and 1 charging possession of obscene pictures.

Sentences Are Deferred
Like Louis Cargill, a Devon, Pa. manufacturer found guilty Monday on 12 morals charges, Jacobs, 34, and Bogdanoff had their sentences deferred.

Judge Curtis Bok, who heard the Bogdanoff and Cargill cases without a jury, said he would seek a common policy from all trial judges on sentencing all 18 defendants in the case. In addition, Judge Theodore L. Riemel ordered a psychiatric examination of Jacobs.

DRAFT MEASURE FOR ASSEMBLY ON HOME RULE

HARRISBURG (AP) — A new approach to an old legislative hot potato—home rule for third class cities—is being drafted for submission to the 1957 General Assembly.

For the sixth consecutive session a bill will be offered to carry out the intent of a constitutional amendment approved by the voters 34 years ago.

But for the first time, Sen. Stevenson (R-Clinton) says, the legislation will be in the form of two different proposed city charters.

One would provide for the strong mayor-council type government and the other for the city manager-council form. All 47 third class cities in Pennsylvania now operate under charters calling for the "weak mayor-council" type of operation.

The 1922 constitutional amendment authorized the Legislature to enact enabling legislation permitting third class cities to write and adopt their own charters, thus granting "home rule." Only in the case of Philadelphia, the state's only first class city, has this been carried out.

Up To Cities

In the past, however, all the proposed legislation simply au-

SEES MILLION JOBS ON NEW U.S. ROAD PROGRAM

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) said Tuesday the new federal highway program will create almost one million new jobs for American workers.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the 42nd annual convention of the National Assn. of State Highway Officials, Martin, a member and former chairman of the Senate's Public Works Committee, declared:

"It has been estimated that the highway program will create at least 300,000 new jobs on direct highway construction alone and twice as many in related industries."

The senior Pennsylvania senator said "many thousands" of workers will be needed to produce steel, cement, asphalt, stone, sand and gravel under the federal program. "The production of road building machinery and equipment will have to be greatly expanded," he added.

Under the new highway program the federal government contributes 90 per cent toward the cost of a limited access divided highway on the interstate system and the states 10 per cent.

Martin was one of two major speakers slated to address the morning session of the convention which association president Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer for the Missouri Highway Department, described as "an exchange of ideas on how to do highway work."

The other speaker, John A. Volpe, highway administrator for the U. S. Commerce Department, also reviewed the federal program in his prepared speech.

Martin, in his address, said that each billion dollars worth of new highway means 16 million barrels

TRIES TO PROVE HE WAS INSANE

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Angelo LaMarca testified in his own defense Tuesday, trying to establish that he was insane last July 4 when he kidnapped little Peter Weinberger. His life may hang on his testimony.

LaMarca's testimony in the 22-day-old kidnap-slaying trial came after Judge Mario Pittoni denied the usual midtrial defense motion to dismiss the charges. LaMarca is on trial for his life, charged with first-degree murder and kidnapping. He is pleading insanity.

The 32-day-old Westbury, N.Y., baby was abandoned after his kidnapping to die face down of suffocation in a Long Island honey-suckle thicket.

In arguing for a dismissal of the defense claimed the state failed to prove that the tiny boy found 51 days after the kidnapping was actually Peter's.

This argument sent the baby's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, 32, rushing from the crowded courtroom in tears.

Hungarian Church Aiding Refugees

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The First Hungarian Reformed Church here has gone all out in an effort to provide relief for Hungarian refugees streaming into Camp Kilmer, N.J.

Each of 100 families in the church is offering to take care of one refugee family until the newcomers can make homes for themselves.

The pastor, the Rev. Laszlo Harangi, left yesterday for Camp Kilmer where he is seeking permission to bring the refugees here.

Missionary Work In Egypt Is Hurt

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) — The Middle East crisis has seriously compromised American missionary work in Egypt, the secretary of the Near East committee of the National Council of Churches says.

Dr. Roland Scott of New York City told a foreign missions conference last night that no U. S. mission has yet closed, however.

He said two British Protestant missions closed after the British-French invasion.

thorized the creation of home rule charters leaving their drafting entirely up to the individual cities.

"These cities do not have people who know enough about third class city law to write such charters and it is a very costly job," Stevenson said in explaining why the Senate Local Government Committee he headed in the last Legislature failed to act on a House-approved home rule charter bill.

The bill, approved by the exact 106 votes necessary to clear the House, would have authorized third class cities to frame, adopt and amend their own charters with the approval of a majority of voters casting a ballot on the question.

City Manager Form

It would have permitted the city manager form but a provision in the original draft making city managers mandatory was eliminated.

The Local Government Commission, also headed by Stevenson, was directed to prepare several sample charters to be "studied or used by the various city charter commissions in the preparation of charters."

Stevenson declined to say what future he thought the new proposals face.

"I wouldn't know, it's so hard. There have been so many misunderstandings in the past years," he said.

The commission will hold a panel session on the question next week at the annual convention of the League of Cities in Philadelphia.
